

DRUMMER

GETTING OFF

Most surveys are an annoyance, they take up valuable space and nobody fills them out anyway. So we have never run one. However, at this point and time, with DRUMMER making and contemplating various changes in its format, we felt it would be nice to ask our readers, who probably are the loyal-est of any gay publication. And they are beginning to pour in from the last issue (the questionnaires, not the readers). We are so delighted that we are repeating an updated version, for the last time, this time.

So far it seems that you enjoy the meat and potatoes approach to DRUMMER. We'll continue to leave the glossy space-filling Colt Studio type photos to the east coast publishers. Colt's stuff is seldom found in gay-owned publications anyway. We have always felt that our people weren't too interested in a magazine they could absorb while standing at the newsstand.

We had an interesting reaction from a former advertiser who is in the phone-sex business. He said he got calls from his ads in DRUMMER, but usually they had just come, presumably from what they read. Calls from the other mags came from guys who were turned on and needed someone to talk them into an orgasm. We don't blame him for taking his business elsewhere.

Our twenty-page section is filled with what is new in leather and we are delighted with the leather suppliers all over the country who participated. To those who didn't, we offer a free ride from America's leather magazine that will be reflecting what our readers demand beginning with the January issue.

MALECALL/ Dear Sir:

DRUMMER RADIO

I was caught on the throne this morning when radio station WNCN's 'Advertising News of the Day' program came on, which is usually about as interesting as a couple of queens sitting around talking about opera in the steam room at the Y. Being where I was, I was unable to change the station and therefore did not miss this intriguing item:

The makers of Don Q Rum have announced a new (ad) campaign to be mounted with the slogan, 'Q me... March to the sound of a different drum...'

What will those Madison Avenue fellas come up with next!

& LSMFT?

I've been reading Drummer for about one year now. It is one of the only magazines which I regularly read. Judging from Drumbeats, it would seem that many of your readers are interested in watersports and fist fucking. When can we expect to see photos and articles dealing with these subjects?

J.A.

New Orleans, LA

(Editor's Note: While we have somewhat covered both in the past, for more explicit, in-depth, wetter coverage, you'll probably have to wait until the laws change. Both activities are super-no-no's; while Drummer goes further than anyone else, we can only go so far. How far is that? Who knows?)

TO BAR OR NOT TO BAR

I've just finished reading So You Want to Own A Leather Bar!? in Drummer No. 58. I was among the first wave to thrill to the idea of the Drummer Key Club and made a stop at the bar every night I hit the city.

Your article answered many of my questions (eg: Why did it change so radically so often? Why did it close? Would it even open before my membership expired?) But I'm still wondering, as you are, why it didn't soar? Drummaster showed everything the Brig had been and more. Then The Cave appeared with the same image and atmosphere and the men marched there. And why did they walk away from The Cave to make the S.F. Eagle thrive? Yes, I know, if either of us had the answers we'd make a mint.

Thanks for trying (the club) at least. I always enjoyed the place even when I thought I was alone there. And thanks for recounting all the pitfalls, trials, and snafu's in your article. If none of the other South of Market men, bar owners, ex-bar owners, or future bar owners thank you for your journal, they're just showing the stuff they're full of.

COW FUCKING

I wanted to drop you a note telling you how much I appreciated your fast service. I consider Drummer far above other gay publications. I have enjoyed it for years. I'm really surprised by your speedy service.

During my sojourn in the country for the next year I will really be needing Drummer. You can only fuck so many cows and it's hard as hell to get one of the bulls to fuck me!

You've proved once again that Drummer is truly the magazine for men into leather. You take seriously your responsibilities to your readers as shown in your very professional service.

Now I'll just have to wait and see if the ad gets me any response. It would be a pleasant surprise to discover some leather in East Texas besides that on the cattle.

I'm proud to be part of the Leather Fraternity and proud to be a reader of Drummer.

Keep up the good work!

DRUMMER SURVEY

I think your survey (Drummer 57) was a good idea. Are you going to give us the results? When?

S. Neal

San Francisco, CA

(Editor's Note: We are planning to publish the results in the January 1983 issue of Drummer. The response has been immediate and very interesting, and we think you'll be surprised by some of the conclusions. If you haven't sent yours in, do so right away!)

PROBLEMS DOWN UNDER

Drummer to the best of my knowledge is still not available in Australia through any distribution arrangement. Copies which I see occasionally are ones friends have brought back from the States or old ones which I have bought when I have returned home to Washington, D.C. I would like to take out a subscription for Drummer to be sent to "Oz."

In addition I would like to find out if there is still an organization "alive and well" in San Francisco called The Quarters which I believe may be of interest to me.

I look forward to receiving Drummer on a regular basis and thank you and your staff for all the work you put into making it a really great magazine.

SOUR GRAPES?

I thought the unsigned letter from the European leatherman last issue (Drummer No. 58, "A European View") was very interesting. At first I thought it was sour grapes from someone who came to San Francisco expecting everything and didn't get anything. A lot of men in the bars from out of town seem to think that leathermen are here to be used. If they can go home with their balls empty, they're satisfied. If they strike out for whatever reason, it's San Francisco that gets the blame. But, like the guy who wrote the letter said, that's probably true of any large American city.

After reading the letter again a few times, I don't think that's where he's coming from. To a certain extent I think what he's talking about is true. I think it's a serious problem.

SCAT TABOO?

What's all this shit in Drumbeats from advertisers who taboo scat? Is the assumption that to include scat in an ad automatically suggest, "I eat shit"?

On those rare, special occasions when I've made it with a hot trasher who really zeros in on my mind and body, scat has done its thing without getting eaten. Only once did a guy tell me he had his shit regularly gobbled up by a young dude in the midwest. The process involved a special diet and set appointment times.

As for me, I don't eat it, but I sure as hell get off on dumping it in my jeans or groping the ass of someone who is full. Taking a dump feels good, and when you can watch some hot stud pushing it down and out, it's good shit!

Sure, use common sense and avoid health hazards, plan ahead, but do it!

MAD AS HELL!

I am totally fed up with fighting my way into bookstores to get my monthly copy of Drummer and losing out.

I need my Drummer every month with its hot, hot men and hot stories to get me through the month. It also helps me build up bigger and better fantasies.

I've been fighting my way through the bookstores since I got hooked on Drummer No. 33, when you turned me on beyond belief! So I proceeded to get my lover turned on, too. Now, when I come home empty handed I get holy hell!

So, I'm going to subscribe so I can get back to your cum busting stories and crotch splitting men.

BEFORE & AFTER

My friend and I have lived in New York (our home), St. Louis, Denver and now here in the pits of Southern California.

Before Drummer we had each other, but for the past 48 issues (somehow we missed the beginning) we have had each other and Drummer. The best threesome any lovers could ask for!

HELLFIRE'S INFERNO XI

DRUMMER WAS THERE AND NOW SO ARE YOU!

Have you ever wished you could find a society where leather and SM were the norms? Where keys and hankies mean what they are supposed to mean? What a pleasant revelation you would have, then, to discover this one time, in this one place, the mini-world called Inferno.

In a sense, I look back on Inferno XI with the realization of its having been much more than a physical experience...although the physical aspects were certainly present in an overflowing abundance. But the participants enjoyed themselves—and their companions—within a time/space that was, for them, their world, a totally SM world. The Chicago Hellfire Club is a group of men who are frank and open regarding their leather interests and orientation. They make no pretense of being a motorcycle or a social club. Their stated purpose is to promote and enjoy the safe and sane pleasures of SM, and their annual Inferno is the epitomized fruition of that goal.

This year, the run took place in the Saugatuck-Douglas resort area of southwestern Michigan, only a few hundred feet from the lake shore. The region is heavily wooded, with a number of summer homes, hotels, and lodges nestled between the highway and the native forests. Like Fire Island in New York, or Laguna Beach in California, a good number of the residents and property owners are gay, creating a positive environment for kindred visitors. The run was headquartered at the Douglas Dunes, where the two hundred participants were assigned sleeping quarters, and where the two daily meals were served. The actual run site was in the woods behind the Saugatuck Lodge, with a couple of buses (vans) carrying guys back and forth over the two mile distance every few minutes. The system worked quite well, although I am sure the men involved in providing the service must have been exhausted by the end of the four day run.

The Hellfire Club is relatively small, with only twenty or so full (Chicago resident) members; but they have about 150 associates (of which I am one), and a number of helpful 'friends'. Thus the complex organization of the run was accomplished very smoothly, and the SM action was going full tilt in the tents around Scaffold Square all afternoon, evening (except for a dinner break), and well into the pre-dawn hours. By special dispensation of the club officials (most gratefully acknowledged) I was permitted to park my van on the run site, between the Casa Crisco and the Aqua Vita Villa (waterworks). This gave me an opportunity to observe the action even more closely than would have otherwise been possible. I was also assigned Dungeon Master duties. These entailed helping people who were unfamiliar with the equipment, or stepping in to stop any activity which appeared to be dangerous. I was pleasantly surprised to find it necessary to do neither very often. The level of intelligence and experience among the members and guests was extraordinary.

There were also a number of extremely attractive men—both from the standpoint of physical attributes and personality. And they certainly interacted! When the activities were in full swing, so many scenes were taking place at the same time, it would be impossible to keep track of them all. In the large dungeon tent (Chateau DeSade) were a dozen or so well-constructed devices, including such diverse appliances as: horizontal stretch racks, vertical 'T' frames and crosses, a medical table, a dentist's chair, barrel rack, Dr. Caligari's cabinet, stocks, and a sophisticated lighting system that permitted the Dungeon Master to illuminate whatever section seemed to require or deserve it.

Outside, in Scaffold Square, were The Towers. In addition to the structure itself, which provided numerous possibilities for binding a man to a solid framework, there were several popular suspension devices. One was a hanging (vertical) cross; another was an approximately four-foot cube wire mesh-cage, equipped to be suspended on a heavy cable. Probably the most popular, certainly the most frequently used appliance, was a horizontal 'I' beam, to which the subject could be bound so as to be suspended, face up, from the underside, while the bar was lifted several feet into the air via a single steel chain. This permitted a tremendous degree of swing, tilt, or spin, in a virtually unobstructed, three-dimensional plane.

Although the participants had plenty of innovative ideas of their own, the Club provided a variety of demonstrations and competitions. These were all scheduled during daylight hours, leaving the members and guests free to enjoy their own specialties and activities in the evening. The demonstrations included: bondage & mummification, fistfucking safety, flogging, catheterization, piercing, electrotorture, military discipline, and steel bondage. In addition to outlining successful and enjoyable techniques, there was a heavy emphasis on safe and responsible behavior. The competitions involved: a slave contest, ball-weight lifting, a tit tug-of-war, and a bondage contest.

For me, the most interesting task was undertaken for the Club by the "fantasy fulfillment team". Run participants were queried on their application forms regarding their desire to have a certain fantasy fulfilled. Those who responded affirmatively had their requests referred to the team, who in turn did their best to make reality match the dreams. For instance, one guy wanted to be forcibly subdued, bound, and subjected to some heavy bondage and abuse. You see the fulfillment of this fantasy in the photo of the up-side down slave, hanging by his feet, his balls a porcupine of clothespins. Another wished to be stripped and chained to a luxury car, forced to polish it while the owner stood by and watched. Others desired public humiliation, or some intricate discipline. Nearly all of these wishes were carried out during the four days of activity.

While I think the photographs will probably illustrate the basic activities more satisfactorily than it would be possible to do in words, there are several situations where photography would have been inappropriate. One of these stands out in my mind as the epitome of an SM experience...at least from the standpoint of the bottom. Picture a small clearing in the woods, late at night, very dark, still warm from an almost oppressively hot summer day. A slender young man stands between two trees, naked except for a blindfold and gag, his arms secured to the solid trunks on either side. The front of his body is illuminated by the glow of a flickering candle in a crude container a few feet in front of him. The only sound comes from the half dozen men who have placed him there, now relaxing on the ground in pairs or singly, either watching their captive or interacting with each other as they await their leader's next instructions. In the distance there is an occasional shout or snap of crackling impact from the run site, but these are alien and distinct from the action within the clearing.

The young man is moaning, swaying slightly as a gentle movement of air caresses his skin, where the marks of his previous activities are clearly etched. During the course of the last two days he has served several Masters, and his body bears criss-cross scars on the back, lingering rings from previous bonds around his wrists and ankles. He has worn a catheter and he has felt the tingling sensation of electric current through his lower body. He now waits for whatever attentions his present Master will accord him on this final evening.

At the same time, a number of scenes are taking place in the cavernous tent. Here, the various pieces of equipment are separated from one another by the pools of darkness, where the individual spots of light fall off and leave the suggestion of a barrier between the pairs or small groups of men. On one of the stretch racks, a muscular figure strains against his bonds while a series of surgical needles are set into an intricate pattern through the skin of his genitals. Another man stands against a wooden upright, his wrists bound to the cross beam while his back and ass are glowing red from the carefully directed blows of a teamster's whip. Outside, the 'I' beam sways as another naked form twists beneath it, tightly secured, hooded, unable to see the men who guide the sway and dipping of his body. In the smaller tents, other men are in the slings, or kneeling to receive the body-warm fluids that cascade down their chests or upturned faces.

During the entire weekend, each of the participants has been encouraged in whatever activities he has found most sensual or most exciting. No one has cast a jaundiced eye upon him, nor interfered with his behavior. The whole atmosphere has been more than permissive; it has been designed to promote the acting out of fantasies that would normally remain capped and untouched. Here, the willing partners and the necessary space were provided, as were the other needed ingredients—the equipment and expertise to facilitate the consummation of fantasy. The experience has been rich and fulfilling. By the break of dawn on the final day, there is little left undone, and those who arrived as novices are leaving with a wealth of experience it would otherwise have taken them years to accumulate.

At the final breakfast gathering on Monday morning, the Club dispenses its awards, and men who were strangers two days before exchange addresses and phone numbers. Shortly after noon the participants begin to disperse, heading toward their homes all across the United States, Western Europe, and Australia. It's the end of a really extraordinary experience. Like several other men with whom I later discussed Inferno, my own feelings reflect the run as a truly unique happening. It is difficult to appreciate all its facets except in retrospect, when the mind has time to sort out and digest the myriad visual and sensual impressions. As is true of so much that comprises SM, Inferno is decidedly not for everyone. But for those few who belonged there, it was an incomparable trip. □

TIGHTROPES II

Take a blond, solidly-built, hung, uncut stud and give him anything he wants. What he wants is a tall, muscular, dark-haired young stud named J.W. King with a cock that has a reputation for ripping open assholes faster than a gnat can shit on a pine cone. Put them in a room that is dominated by a rack, filled with every SM toy known to man, lock the door, and tell them to go to it.

The blond gets to be the bottom, but some people have all the luck. He strips down, gets down, and doesn't get up until he's told to.

King gets to be the top, naturally. He's into leather, pain and domination, but not necessarily in that order. Try domination, leather and pain. Or just try pain. With enough cock to swat a face silly and the balls to drive it home, getting just what you want from King-stud may mean more than you ever bargained for in the first place.

The odyssey continues... after the enormous success of the very first film from Close Up Productions, Tightropes, which debuted in these pages (Drummer 57, "Fun at Your Favorite Bar on a Quiet Sunday Afternoon"), comes the news that a sequel, Tightropes II, has been released.

In the first film there was a brief episode, a flashback, which Ryder had while being hog-tied and worked over in a deserted bar, of a night he spent on the rack under the hands of none other than J.W. King. In Tightropes II that flashback is expanded to a full-length super session. Ryder is still in the bottom position, and J.W. King, a veteran of porn films, puts in an appearance complete with a brand new beard. If your taste runs toward young Masters with oversized tools, then King might just fill the bill. And while Ryder seems to have a bottomless butt and a throat that could take on a 747, King can and does fill him to the brim.

As if being punished by King's cock weren't enough, Ryder also tastes the lash, the rack, the power of King's ball-crushing hands, and a few unmentionables. The action is strictly no-let-up, and the explosive climax wetter than a duck's ass in a tropical rain forest.

Close Up Productions, which also makes magazine versions of their films and videos, is obviously having a love affair with Ryder and King, not that anyone is complaining. Besides the two Tightrope films, the duo is featured in their Overload magazines, and rumor has it that both Ryder and King have feature projects coming that will cast them in much different roles than those in which they've already appeared. But as fuck buddies, they're a good example of perfect casting; Ryder with his fat uncut cock and King with his flagpole seem to know just what makes the other tick. When these boys get down, it is strictly straight up and straight in, right to the bottom.

Information in Tightropes II is available, if you are over 21, from Close Up Productions, Box 205, N. Hollywood, CA 91603. Tell 'em Drummer sent you.

MR. LEATHER SAN DIEGO

The Loading Zone in San Diego is serious about leather and leathermen, and that's why they sponsor the annual Mr. Leather San Diego Contest.

But hold on! Leather in tropical San Diego, alternately known as the Tahiti of Southern California and one of the most beautiful but most conservative cities in America? That's right! While San Diego indeed sits in the rather conservative southern half of the state, and while it has a tropical climate nearly year 'round—it is still a hotbed of heavy leather action (and is on the travel itinerary of nearly all vacationing European leathermen). San Diego makes no bones about any seeming contradiction; the leathermen who live or visit there get down just as fast and just as dirty as their brothers in liberal San Francisco or New York.

The 1982-83 Mr. Leather San Diego Contest was, naturally, at the Loading

Zone, and the place was, naturally, packed to the rafters with shiny black boots, jackets, chaps and all the rest. The judges were themselves winners: Dave McDaniels, the 1981-82 Mr. Leather San Diego; Luke Daniel, 1982 Mr. International Leather and 1982 Mr. Drummer; and Gunner Robinson, Drummer's Leather Ambassador.

There were eight finalists, all screened before the big night kicked off with a cocktail party for the judges, contestants, and staff of the Loading Zone. Then, as the night began, the public got to see these prime examples of manflesh as they began a long night of showing themselves to their best advantage, talking about themselves and their desire to win the coveted title, and answering questions from the judges about leather and the leather lifestyle.

The packed crowd got into the act, applauding and cheering their favorites on, while the judges set themselves the task of picking one man from all the rest.

The Second Place winner was a very tall, very hunky stud named John Atherton, 6'5" and 190 lbs of pure USDA prime beef who told the crowd that leather was a statement of hot, proud men who were secure in their masculinity and their love for other masculine men. And the winner was Steve Despier, a 30 year old hunk who stood 5'10", weighed 160 lbs, and who saw leather as the fine-tuning and utilization of all the senses, the ultimate enjoyment of one's manhood.

Besides a cash prize of $150 (and other gifts including Drummer Leather Fraternity membership), Steve will be the official San Diego entry in the 1983 Mr. Drummer Contest. Who knows, you may be seeing even more of him in these pages in the future.

DRUMMER DADDIES

In Search of OLDER MEN

MY REAL DAD AND I

It's great to see that the interest in Daddies has grown enough to warrant the attention of Drummer. In my case it isn't just a fantasy, as I have grown up sexually with my real dad.

I am 17 years old now and he is 35 but our sexual relationship began when I was younger. He had divorced my mother three years earlier after she discovered that he was sleeping with men. I am an only child and we spent a lot of time together, despite the fact that he had a job and was almost out of college. The first time I was aware of his sexuality occurred one weekend afternoon when we were taking a shower together after we had come back from hiking. I was quite young at the time and we usually played a wrestling game sitting up in the tub after I had soaped up his body from the waist up. I always looked forward to soaping up his hairy chest, to make it as slippery as I could, which was the point of the wrestling game. Inevitably I would sit on his lap with his arms around me trying to get out of his hold. This particular day I was very much aware of the feel of his cock under me and I felt it harden. It was startling and I backed off his lap to see the erect head sticking up out of the water. He didn't say anything, just stood up, turned on the shower, and rinsed himself off. I was still sitting and very much in awe of how large his dick had grown. After he dried off, he would usually dry me off as I stood on the toilet seat, then carry me into the bedroom to get dressed. This all happened had more than two inches, but never let it be said that a child doesn't have any sexuality, because I sure did.

I'll tell you more about my father and I and my coming out some other time. B.N.

WHERE ARE DADDY'S BOYS?

My daddy is looking for a boy to discipline and to train in the ways that daddy likes. Daddy likes his cock rock hard so he can plow the hell out of his son's ass. Daddy likes to fuck face with his rock hard cock and if you think that's all daddy wants, just think again, little one. Daddy will whip the shit out of you until you beg to have some part of him inside your body. Daddy gives the commands, you give the service. Believe me, this boy knows what his daddy wants. Want to be one of daddy's boys?

D.S.
Baltimore, MD

HOT OLDER MAN WANTED

I like what you are doing for the older man. I have always found a older man to be very hot. I am 27 years old, 6', 160 lbs., brown hair, thick 6 inches with big balls. I like good one-on-one sex with men over 38 years of age, but usually only find one-night-stands when I come up to the city for the weekend. I would really like to find my own daddy.

I was in the Army for six years, live in Fresno, have a good job, work out, run, and don't go out much.

John S.

Bryan Derbyshire, who writes Drummer's London Leather, shows you what a hung, uncut, demanding English daddy looks like: leather, bearded and all. You know the English practically invented caning and whipping, so you can imagine what's in store for a boy who gets adopted by a daddy from across the Atlantic.

as it usually did, only as we walked down the hall, with me slung over his shoulder, I distinctly felt a wet warmth encircle my dick. I wasn't sure, but it felt as if it was in his mouth. We dressed and nothing else was said or done.

He went out the following Friday night (it was usual for him to go out on weekend nights). The consolation of my being left with a babysitter (who was a highschool-aged guy from down the street) was that I could sleep in his bed. Some weekend mornings I would wake up and he would be next to me. But if he had brought home a friend, he would sleep in the next room. Let me say that at this point I had never seen him in bed with anyone—his friends would either leave before I got up, or by the time I got up they would both already be up and about. This particular Friday night, I woke up to feel the bed moving and I thought at first that dad was just getting into bed. However, when I opened my eyes I saw that my dad was bending over someone, and from the muscular legs that were balanced on dad's shoulders, I knew it was another man. My dad looked as if he was pushing into the man and their faces were together. When the other man said to my dad, "fuck me hard", I almost realized what was happening. Jesse (the babysitter) would go through the same motions on the sofa with a pillow between his legs when he thought that I had gone to bed. I pretended to be asleep and suddenly felt a hand, not my father's, touch my leg and then move to my dick. Then both of them began to move faster and the hand left and I heard my dad say "Come with me" and then it was quiet. A few minutes later my father rolled over on his side and I could tell by his breathing that he was asleep.

The other guy's hand came back to my dick, only this time it was wet and slimy and as he pushed my foreskin back and forth with what I thought was spit, I heard him say—like father like son. They they were both asleep.

TWO DADDIES

I am enclosing a recent photo. I am 51 years old and would make some young punk a very good daddy. I am a stage manager currently touring the country. My permanent home is New York City, where I live with my lover of 24 years. He is also my age, so you might say you could get two daddies instead of one. While I don't have a photo of him to send, he is hot and very well hung. I am 5'9", 160 lbs., blondish gray hair, blue eyes and have 7" of cut cock. I have been into leather for about 10 years and have found across the country that the leather crowd is the most open, friendly and accepting.

We could use a son to service us both and we have lots to give to the right guy. He would have to be masculine, obedient. For the right guy we could be the perfect dads.

BLACK SON WANTS DAD

I am writing this letter in the hope that you will publish it, for you are my last chance to find happiness. Isn't there someone out there who yearns for a twenty-one year old black boy? I see the daddy-types on the street and in the bars, but they don't see me. I know there must be many white daddies out there who'd love a slim, tan, smooth and obedient boy like me to mold into a son. My real father abandoned me at an early age. So, my need for a daddy is not a casual one. If you're a husky, bearded, beer-bellied Dad looking for someone to love, teach and discipline, I'm waiting your command. I want a daddy whom I can cook for, someone to fetch slipper for (with my mouth, of course, for I am an eager pup). A daddy who I can serve totally. If I ever got out of hand, a firm spanking would set me straight. I sit home alone most nights. When I do go out, I see the sons and daddies together, and envy their relationships. Hoping this letter will help to put an end to all my days of emptiness.

OHIO DADDY

I want a son who is willing to work and pay his way in life, and be ready to obey this tough daddy when told to do something. He must be ready to receive punishment whenever I think it is necessary and praise when I think he deserves it. At home he will wear a slave collar and at times wrist and ankle restraints. He should be willing to be shown off to his daddy's friends and to show them the same respect he does his dad (except sex—unless I say it's okay). He should be ready to please his dad with his mouth or ass when told to. He should be between 21 and 32, slim or smooth, goodlooking, blond or light hair, white, Latino, Oriental, or American Indian, cut, and have 6-8".

This Ohio dad is 39, hairy, beard and moustache, 7" cock, 44" chest, 34" waist. I enjoy traveling, B&D, light S&M. Tell daddy how much you want to make him happy and what you would do.

ORGAN DAD

I've been reading Drummer Daddies and have come to realize that what I need is a hung, uncut son who likes to fuck and get sucked by his dad.

I'm 65, 6'3", have an uncut cock and hazel eyes. I am a professional organ builder and have constructed about 177 in my region of the country. I also have 2 pipe organs at home, love music, and have a large collection of recordings and tapes, so someone who either plays the piano or organ would be a bonus. But mainly I am looking for someone who is tall (maybe even taller than me), hairless (or at least almost hairless) body, superior intellect, and who likes to fuck. I learned to sleep with a cock up my ass while I traveled in Greece and Turkey, and the ideal son would be one with enough meat to do that. Am not into SM or fetishes, but really turn on to uncut cock. It would be great to connect with a son who could turn on to an organ dad.

DEMANDING DAD

I've been watching the letters you print in Drummer Daddies from little boys out there wanting someone to take charge of them, and I don't think a single one of the twerps who have written so far could cut the mustard with me. I'd like a son, but not some whimpering, snot-nosed dummy who'd run out the door the first time he really got his ass beat. Half the little boys I pick up in the bars have never had a real man in their lives, and when a real man gets ahold of them, they shit their pants.

I don't play daddy, I am a fucking daddy, and I've got the balls and backbone to prove it. So if any of you wimps out there think you can stand up to this stud fucker, think about it again. When I say jump I expect you to hit the fucking ceiling. And when I say suck my cock, it better disappear. When I say spread 'em, I want to see China.

The problem with the world today is that none of you fuckers ever had a real man whip your ass.

DRUMMER DADDIES

ARISTOCRATIC DADDY

The only way to describe this Daddy-Master is tall, 6'2½", aristocratic, related to European nobility, totally dominant with an unlimited imagination and capacity for fantasy.

This Daddy-Master is into and has been into almost every scene and looks forward to training his son-slave to be the very best slave anywhere. He will enjoy showing off the product of his training so that all the poor fucks in the bars will know how good the slave is and how much he belongs to his Daddy-Master.

This Daddy's slave-son will not only enjoy, but will crave complete ownership, water sports, piercings, brandings, tattoos, heavy bondage, humiliation, suspension and anything else his Daddy-Master determines to be correct for his property.

This Daddy-Master is now taking applications. Contact him through Drummer Daddies, but only if the potential property knows that this is the true way of life and not just some bullshit game.

DADDY'S TOILET

I don't have a Daddy anymore but I did once and he was wonderful. Let me tell you about my Daddy and how hard it would be to replace him.

I wasn't into daddy-son scenes, but I always liked older men. When I was 22 (I'm 30 now) and looked 18 (I look 22 now), I met a big, hairy-chested married man who worked in the same insurance company as my real dad. My dad had Ted, that was his name, and his wife over for dinner one night and when I saw him rightaway I wanted to get on my knees and beg him to feed me his cock. I caught him making eyes at me, or sorta looking at me out of the corner of his eyes a couple of times. After dinner, when my parents and this hot man and his wife were just sitting around the living room talking, I wandered in and out a few times. Once I heard Ted ask to be excused and for directions to the head. I popped up and offered to show him—the bathrooms were all on the second floor at the end of the hall. He mounted the stairs behind me and I couldn't make up my mind if I was brave enough to make a play for him right there in my own house.

I walked into the bathroom first, flicked on the light, and walked over to the sink to wash my hands. I figured if he was game he'd whip it out right there. If he wasn't, then he'd probably stall until I left.

He was in back of me, and although I kept my head down, concentrating on soaping my hands, I heard him unbuckle his belt and unzip his slacks. When I looked up in the mirror over the sink, he was sitting down in the toilet. He said he hoped I didn't mind if he took a shit while I was washing my hands. I said to go right ahead, it didn't bother me at all. I already had a hard-on from just the excitement of knowing that his pants were down. But I didn't know if, when I turned around, I'd get to see his cock, figuring it was probably hanging down between his legs, out of sight.

I turned around only to find that he was sitting there with his slacks around his ankles and his legs spread wide open. I could see his hairy crotch, the base of his meat, and his muscular, hairy thighs as clear as day. I just stared and my mouth fell open. I heard him take a big grunt and out slid a long turd from his ass that plopped into the water. He sort of sighed, then grinned up at me and said, "I've always thought it would be much more comfortable to have a tongue wipe your ass clean instead of a piece of paper. What do you think?"

I'll never forget that or the casual way he said it, grinning at me all the time. It took me a minute to think, then I said, never once taking my eyes off his crotch, "But how would you do that?" Maybe not the perfect answer, but it worked. He reached down and slipped out his wallet, handed me his business card and told me to call him during the day and maybe we could find out together.

I blushed, hard-on and all, took the card, slipped out of the bathroom and quickly went downstairs for a coke, just to make sure my parents and his wife didn't think I was still in the john with him.

I must have beat off three times that night, fingering my asshole and wondering if his asshole was as hairy as his legs.

I called him the next day at his office and he said if I would meet him in an hour at a restaurant nearby, we could go somewhere and talk about it. I was there thirty minutes early. I saw him coming up the street, quickly paid my check, and dashed outside before he got to the door. He grinned that same grin at me and said he had parked a block away, did I want to go for a ride? On the way to his car, he told me that he wanted to stop by a friend's house—who wasn't home—to check on something and would I mind. I said that was fine, but I didn't say much else all the way there, and all he did was ask my age, ask about college, ask me what I wanted to do after college and if I had a girlfriend.

He was right, there was no one home at his friend's house and he let us in with a key. No sooner were we inside than he announced he had to take a crap. I knew I was supposed to follow him into the bathroom, so I did, and that was my first surprise. It was the biggest bathroom I've ever seen, and not really a bathroom at all, more like a public men's room. There was a toilet and a sink, but no shower. There was also a urinal, big enough for about four men to stand at, along one wall. He didn't say anything, just unbuckled his belt, dropped his pants, and sat on the john. He started talking about taking a shit and how good it felt and how good it was to take a piss, all the while unbuttoning his shirt, undoing his tie, unlacing his shoes. I stood against the wall across from him and said "yeah" every couple of sentences, but mainly I folded my arms across my chest, watched him, and felt my own dick start to get hard. He dropped his shirt and tie on a hamper next to the toilet, slid his shoes across the floor, slipped off his pants and socks and put them with the shirt, and ended up sitting there stark naked except for his watch and wedding ring, his legs spread apart like before.

"Why don't you get out of those things. We're in no hurry, unless you are." At that, I stripped. As I was pulling off my pants I looked over and noticed that he had hung his cock over the edge of the toilet seat. It was big and thick and the foreskin completely covered the head and hung down a good inch. It looked like it was getting hard, but it hung draped over the rim of the seat. My own seven inches was jerking up and down and my foreskin had pulled itself back like it does when I'm hard. I don't have much body hair, just some bush around my cock, and he was hairy from the word go— his chest, his stomach, crotch and legs. I was sure he probably had a hairy ass, to boot.

"Why don't you turn around and let me get a look at your ass?"

I walked up to him and did just as he said. I felt his hands grab ahold of each cheek, give them a gentle squeeze, and pull them apart slightly.

"Why don't you bend over so I can get a better look?"

I did, my hands on my kneecaps. He pulled the tight, round cheeks of my ass wide apart, until I could feel my rectum beginning to open, and then glued his mouth against my asshole and darted his tongue inside so fast it damn near took my breath away. I steadied myself and relaxed. His mouth and tongue ate at my asshole like a bear after honey, digging inside and scraping his tongue against the walls. It was like nothing I'd ever felt and the head of my cock started dripping from the sensation. I felt him let go of one cheek and then felt a finger snake its way into my wet, warm opening. He continued to finger-fuck my young ass and slid the thick finger in as far as it would go. My asshole was really open now, and he took both hands, dug right in with the fingertips, and really spread it open, sinking his mouth right inside. I thought I would explode.

Then he stopped. "Why don't you give my ass some of that same attention?" I was ready for anything. He positioned me so that I was kneeling in front of the toilet with my head resting against the bowl rim. Then he turned around and backed up, giving me my first look at the solid, muscular, hairy cheeks of his ass. He bent over slightly and rested the crack of his butt against my face. I reached up and grabbed the cheeks of his ass, like he had done mine, spread them apart until I could see his hairy rectum, then closed my eyes and aimed my tongue for the opening. I was surprised at how soft his asshole felt on my tongue. He relaxed his sphincter muscles, and I burrowed my way into the canal of his rectum. It tasted slightly musky, sweaty, and it made my cock throb. I heard him sigh and felt him relax more, letting my tongue dig further and further into his hole.

"That's good, son. Yeah, eat your daddy's ass," he crooned while I worked on his dark, wet hole. "That's a good boy. Clean out your dad's ass, son."

The cum started pouring out of the head of my cock and I sucked and ate with determination. He eased me down on the floor until he was squatting over me, his asshole wide open. I speared it with the entire length of my tongue, buried my nose in it, dug my chin in it. He grabbed my cum-covered dick and balls and started squeezing them, rubbing them around my crotch.

He suddenly stood up and turned around, so that he was standing over me. He was pumping his thick, hard cock in his hand, grinning and crooning, "That's a good boy, eating your daddy's ass. Open your mouth, son, and daddy's gonna give you some juice to drink. Come on, son, drink daddy's cum."

Wide-eyed and mouth open, I watched him shoot a steady stream of cum towards my face. Some of it went in my mouth, and I felt the hot cum hit my tongue, but mostly it went all over my head and shoulders.

After that, we got together about once a week and I learned how to eat his ass many different ways. Once in a while he would stick the head of his cock in my mouth and shoot down my throat, but mostly he wanted me to eat him out, calling me his son the whole time. Once I even got his fat cock up my ass, but he wasn't interested in fucking my hole as much as he was having me clean his dick off after he had pumped it inside me a few times.

Ted and his wife moved when he got promoted and transferred. I had fantasies about going to visit him, but I never did. I only heard from him once, a graduation card when I left college— and there were a few black, curly hairs in the envelope which I'm sure came from his ass. I never had another daddy-son scene like that again, but not because I wasn't willing. I just never met anyone else with his imagination.

BONUS BOOK SECTION

I stood at his door and knocked. A black leather valise in my hand. He was wearing jeans and a t-shirt when he opened it. He was barefoot, his light brown hair tousled from a recent shower. He had just shaved so his moustache was even more prominent. He was obviously startled to discover that I was his next appointment.

I pushed past him before he could say anything. I left the valise on the table in front of his couch and sat down without taking off my leather jacket. The door closed and, still speechless, he came and stood in front of me. I started to talk before he had a chance, "Fuck the games you've been playing with me in the bars. This is strictly a business proposition. You're a hustler and I know it. I want your ass and you know that. So..." I reached over and opened the bag. I picked up a wad of tens so new they stuck together. "I figure it's worth fifty bucks to start, that should be enough to get you to strip. Now!"

"And then..." his eyes stared into mine with a mixture of anger and defiance.

"And then we'll negotiate." I propped my booted feet on the table. "Strip."

There was a moment's hesitation. "The money first, bastard."

I just smiled. I leaned forward and picked up the wad of cash. I peeled off five bills and offered them to him with an outstretched hand. Another hesitation and then he took the bills and stuffed them in his jeans. The shirt came off first. His light coloring had misled me. I had expected a smooth body but I got better than that. There was a thick, almost wooly covering across his chest which funneled downward in a thick line in the middle of his abdomen. He slowly unbuttoned the levis and pushed them over his hips until they finally fell to the floor. He stepped out of them totally naked.

"Hands behind your head, spread your legs. I want to see just what I've bought myself." He decided to go through with it. I could tell. There was a challenge in his expression now. He'd be damned if I was going to break him. It was just the way I wanted it. I didn't move until he had assumed the position.

When he was in place I got up and went over to inspect him. I ignored that handsome face he was so proud of. Instead I began by placing each of my palms on his wrist and traced the length of his arms. They were as solidly muscular to my touch as I had dreamed they were whenever I had seen him in the bar. My hands slid down til each one rested on his heavy chest. My fingers came together to find his tits. As my hands worked, roughly pulling at the erotic flesh, the nipples grew hard. My eyes never left his.

The expression on his face was one of such rage that I thought he was going to spit at me. I liked that. I liked that a lot. But the demanding pressure of my hands forced his attention back to his own body. He seemed to bite his lip to keep any sound from coming out. I smiled at his futile gesture and left the nipples to roam further down. His sigh of relief was premature. I followed the line of hair beneath his waist till it burst into a bush of dense pubic hair. I knew I'd find a hard cock waiting and I did. It was even larger than I had expected. I grabbed hold of the pole with one fist and gathered up the big balls with the other.

They were tightly encased in their sac. Usually when balls are that big they hang low, but not these. They rode high on his body, close to his pelvis. It didn't stop me from pulling on them with gradual increasing pressure, forcing them further towards me with an insistence that didn't cease until I saw the beauty of real pain force his mouth open.

I walked around behind him. "Don't move," I snapped to abort his attempt to turn. My hands retraced his body from the rear. I could smell the stink of his sweat, now flowing from the tension and uncertainty of the whole situation. His skin was wet with a damp coating. I sniffed up the aroma.

His back was flawless. But it had been his ass that I had dreamed of so often. Now it was mine. I knew from long hours of staring at it in bars that it had to be solid. It was. I couldn't have expected its fine coating of that same brown hair, though. I ran my palms over its luxurious pelt. A single finger found his hole. It was tender to the touch. When my finger probed inward, enveloping itself in the moist interior, he stiffened, etching the muscles in his back as he resisted the invasion.

I removed my finger with a single sharp motion and walked back in front to face him. I smelled the musky aroma left from his hole on my fingertip, smirking at his questioning look, then forced it into his mouth. "Clean it off." He sucked, obediently, damned if he would break in front of me.

I sat down and picked up the roll of money. "I guess it's worth ten bucks to have you lick my boots." I put a single bill on the table. He got on his knees and his mouth went to work on my left foot. "Every inch of them," I demanded. He didn't stop. The subtle touch of his tongue made itself felt through the worn leather. The sound of the lapping was musical. My cock was hard again. I goaded him on: "I expect some enthusiasm for my money!" He sped up, transforming the noise into loud slurps.

When he moved to my right foot I could see that every exposed surface on the other was blackly bright with his spit. After the task was completed he knelt back on his meaty haunches. He wanted me to notice his arrogant look. I only saw his erection bobbing in the air.

"The bedroom," I said sharply. He led me through the hallway into the back. There was a mattress on a plywood platform. At each corner was a metal hook screwed into the frame. I had carried in the valise. I put it on his desk and reopened it, once again pulling out the money. "Ten bucks to tie you up." It went on the desk. "Face down."

He complied with noble reluctance. I got four lengths of rope and secured his wrists and ankles, leaving him spread eagle, ass up. Only then did I strip down. My own erection was now exposed to the cool air. I climbed up and straddled his hips so my cock rested in the valley between his cheeks. I rubbed it up and down, taunting his asshole with the tip, then I rode up until the balls slapped against his own. Only when the foreplay brought a low pleasureable moan did I stop.

I got off the bed. I grabbed a hunk of his hair and lifted his head up as roughly as I could, enjoying the quick cry of pain the action produced. He found himself looking right at my cock. He misunderstood and tried to reach for it with his mouth, but I yanked his hair and kept him back. My free hand reared back and slapped him hard across the face. "You haven't earned that yet." I released his hair and let him collapse back on the bed. He was confused. I enjoyed that.

The riding crop, covered with weaved rawhide and topped with a tip of leather, was in the valise. I took it over and forced it between his teeth. I was delighted to see real fear come over him for the first time. Another bill came off the stack. "I figure a buck a welt." He shook his head emphatically: No.

"What's the matter? I thought you were such a big, mean stud. You can't take a little beating?" I used my most mocking tone. The anger came back over him. The defiance returned. "Okay," I continued, "two bucks a welt." I added another note to the pile.

I retrieved the crop from his mouth. There was a new expression on his face. I couldn't figure out this one. Not just defiant, not just excited, not just fearful... was it lustful? It disconcerted me. His eyes studied the crop and then searched out my face. He softened. I was the one who was beginning to become confused.

I ignored it and grabbed his hair again, arching his neck upward. "Count 'em out, asshole. I got ten coming to me for my twenty bucks, but they don't mean shit unless I hear you count each one of them." I yanked the hair even harder. "And make sure I hear a 'Sir' with each one."

I brought the crop up and slashed it through the air, slamming it into the heavy, hairy ass.

"One, Sir." The voice exposed his surprise at the viciousness of the blow.

"That was for cock-teasing me Friday night at the bar."

Another lash left a welt criss-cross to the first.

"Two, Sir."

"That was for standing me up last Saturday."

"Three, Sir." His voice raised higher now, the pain more real. The blows continued, each one justified with some past lapse of responsibility I had kept locked in my memory. All except the last one.

"Ten, Sir." He almost groaned with relief. I looked down and saw the patchwork of scarlet marks showing through his hairy covering. I knew what I wanted to say then, but I kept the words inside, damned if I was going to reveal myself.

His whole body was panting with sobs. There were dark stains on the sheet where his sweat had soaked through. But, I still wanted evidence that his crying was authentic. I turned him to give myself a full view of his face. The tears had streamed from his eyes. He averted his look, ashamed that I had gotten to him. I surprised myself and bent over to lick the salty fluid.

"This is just the way I wanted you," I declared. My hard cock couldn't wait much longer. Another bill, "Ten bucks to fuck your ass." There was a can of Crisco by his bed. I smeared it on my dick and climbed back on top of him. I speared into his ass without paying attention to his comfort and actually enjoying the howl of torment he released as I drove up till my belly pushed against the cushion of his buttocks.

I purposely fucked him with all the savagery I could. I pounded hard, fast and furious, drawing my cock out until it was almost beyond his sphincter and then shoving it in deeply, burying it in the enclosure of his innards. I fucked him oblivious to any pain myself, intent that this would be remembered, insistent that this would not be forgotten.

I stopped when I felt myself close to orgasm. I wrenched my cock free and wiped the sweat from my brow. Not yet, I told myself. I wanted more. I wanted to have him as no one else ever had.

My cock was slimey from the lubricant and from his ass. I walked to the front of the bed and grabbed his hair again. "Clean it off." He obeyed instantly, almost anxiously. The whole nearly-hard shaft went into his mouth, his tongue wrapped around it.

I untied him. He sat up, rubbing his sore wrists. "Hurt, stud?" I kidded him. I took one of the lengths of rope and fashioned it into a loop. I put it around his neck. "Consider this your collar." I put another bill on his growing pile of money. "Ten bucks to turn you into the toilet you deserve to be."

I pulled on the dangling piece of rope. "On your hands and knees." He went down to the floor. His head hung, but there wasn't the fire anymore. He had changed his manner. I tried to ignore the alteration and lead him crawling out of the bedroom into the john.

I left him kneeling with his head over the bowl of the toilet. I pushed it down into the water, holding his face under the surface until he fought back, sputtering as he forced his head up against my hand to gasp for air.

Still, I kept him with his face only inches above the water. I took hold of my softening prick and let loose with a trickle of piss, yellow liquid that ran down his neck into the toilet. Quickly, the trickle turned into a torrent that I aimed at his hair, soaking it with the stinking urine, splashing it on the floor and wall.

When I finished I tightened my grasp on his neck. "Drink it. Drink my piss." There was no room for argument in my tone of voice. I pushed down. I could hear him slurping up the pissy water. I reached in and splashed the yellow fluid all over his face and hair. "Just what you deserve, asshole, to be on your hands and knees in front of a toilet, drinking a man's piss. It's just what you are."

My hand started to slap his upraised buttocks. I didn't have to coax him to continue drinking. He let loose with a spontaneous burst of zeal. My slapping continued until the whole surface of his ass was a bright red so intense that it nearly hid the angry welts of the riding crop.

I finally pulled him out of the toilet, his face looked up to me still dripping with the mixture of water and piss. "Now I'm going to show you just what you're good for."

I worked my cock back up to full erection. I sprawled him on the cool tile floor and raised his legs, spreading them apart with the same motion. Then I knelt between them and found the still lubricated hole. I pushed in, once more sinking the whole shaft with a single thrust, once more being rewarded with a howl of pain at the invasion.

I rested his legs on my shoulders, always keeping up my fucking motions. I grabbed hold of his nipples and forcefully twisted them back and forth, lifting the flesh up away from his chest bone. His hands flayed the air. "Please, please," he moaned. I thought at first he was begging for release from the pain, then I understood he was asking me to keep fucking him.

Jesus. What was going on?

His arms came up and wrapped themselves around my chest, drawing me in. His mouth searched for mine, found it, and kissed me with a deep probing tongue. "Oh, yes, please fuck me, sir. Please fuck me harder." I pounded even more furiously, trying to ignore his words, trying to get myself back into the role of paying customer, paying fucker, paying master. "Oh, sir," and the tongue searched inside my mouth once more. I was climbing closer and closer to my own orgasm. Just as it was arriving, I reared back, popping my cock out of his hole and letting the excruciating streams of cum wave out of my shaft and onto his chest, splashing into the already wet hair.

When the throbbing jets of cum stopped, I reached down and smeared as much of the ooze as I could into my palm. I wiped it across his face, rubbing the translucent liquid into his moustache. He stared at me the whole time. Rather than resist the rubbing hand, he actually licked at the residue, cleaning my palm as though it were covered with a candy coating instead of gism.

The feeling of discomfort came over me again. I was caught off balance by his reactions. I stood. "Shower off. You're a mess," I said in an attempt to sound disgusted. I went out of the room and dressed as the noise of the shower reverberated through the small apartment. I was seated on the couch with my jacket on when he came out still drying himself off.

"Kneel."

He came over and dropped the towel. He fell to his knees in front of me. There was one last ten dollar in my hand. I put it in his mouth. "Your tip. But I'm not sure you earned it."

I watched him as he studied my face. He took the ten dollars out of his teeth and finally said, "Then why don't you make me earn it? You paid for it. Get your money's worth."

"What the fuck do you mean?"

"Take what you want. It's bad for business for me to let a client leave unhappy. I want you satisfied." Without any warning he was leaning over me and unbuckling my belt. He held it up with both hands as though it were an offering before an altar, the ends dangling on either side. "Use this. You haven't used this yet. Your ass. You haven't made me eat your ass yet. Come on."

I tried to find some mockery in his tone. There was none. But what was it that I heard behind his words? Desperation? "What," my voice was lower now, "are you scared to have me leave?"

"Please don't go...sir. Please don't." He draped the belt over my knees and knelt down. His face was on my boot. Again I could feel his tongue working on the leather. But now the act itself was different. Almost reverent. With unconscious intent, I picked up the belt and let its tip run up and down the center of his back, right along the spine. I'd let the leather sink just as far as his asshole, then drag it up over the rest of the surface.

"You don't know what you're getting into," I warned him. He didn't stop his respectful, slow motion on the boot. My cock was hardening once more. I was on dangerous ground and I knew it.

I stood. His ass was raised high over his knees. I lifted the belt and let it fall hard on his already bruised ass. Again. And again.

But the anger had left me. The beating was severe, but this was a different kind of beating. I was making love to him now. Wonderfully. Each stroke a gift—the act itself a gift from me, the acceptance a gift from him.

He never stopped worshipping my boots as I dropped the belt and stripped down again. I knew I was trapped. Only when my jeans dropped down and covered my boots did he stop. "On your back," I ordered, but with no attempt at cruelty in my voice. This time I spoke from my own need.

I kicked off the boots and laid down beside him. I covered his body with my own, his legs automatically spreading apart to accommodate me. We kissed, deeply. His arms came up around me, my hard cock probed into the crevice between his cheeks. My tongue trailed down through the hair on his chest and found first one then the other nipple. I sucked each one in and rolled it around between my teeth, enjoying the little sounds coming from him that were a mixture of pain and pleasure.

Then I forced his legs up and apart and once again entered him. Our eyes were glued together as my cock forced its way through the opening. I reached between us and took his balls in one hand, pulling them downward. My other hand went up and grabbed his hair. His whole beautiful body arched with tension. I didn't relax either grip, but still let my mouth fall onto his, the wet kiss loving him as much as the pounding cock and demanding holds on his body were dominating him.

I slammed into him with increasing blows from my cock. I rolled us over onto our sides, still grasping his hair and balls, still kissing him. His mouth soon opened with pain, a scream was trapped somewhere in his chest but wouldn't come out. My second orgasm flew out of me, my whole body released a torrent of sweat as intense sensations swept through me.

We collapsed into one another's arms. My cock softened inside him. "Don't leave me, please don't leave me," he whispered into my ear. I couldn't believe what he was saying.

"Then why have you been such an asshole to me," I pulled my face away from his to ask the question. "Why have you acted like such a spoiled little brat every time I've tried to see you?"

"I was frightened." For once he looked away from me.

"Of what? That I'd find out you were a hustler?"

"No, not that. I know all about you," he smiled up at me. "I know you used to do it, too. I didn't think you'd mind that."

"Then what?"

"I..." He hesitated, and then answered rapidly. "I was afraid it would be just like this, just this good, just this powerful. I was frightened that I'd be on my hands and knees licking your boots and that it would feel like it was just what should be happening. I was frightened that you'd bring out all these things in me. God..." He stopped. "God, I loved your belt on my ass." He turned away again, embarrassed.

I leaned down and kissed him gently on the forehead. I forced his face to come back to me and found his mouth with mine once more. We kissed again. My cock, incredibly, was hardening inside him. "It can never be too good," I finally said.

"Sometimes it's so good it scares me," he admitted. "If you bring all these things out in me," he looked at me seriously to deliver this warning, "then you're responsible. You can't leave me then, with all these things—needing your piss, your boots, your belt. You can't leave me wanting them."

"Trust me," I smiled, running my hands over the smooth hairy skin of his body, realizing that it was mine now. Realizing that I could have it whenever I wanted, however I wanted it.

I finally understood all those confusing signals between us. Those things I thought I was forcing on him were the same things he wanted from me. This was going to work, I suddenly realized. This was going to work very well.

It wasn't until a week later that he finally asked me the question I had been waiting for. "When you were making me count out the strokes of the riding crop, you gave me a reason for each one of them, but the last. Why? Wasn't there a reason for the tenth welt, too?"

"Yes," I sipped my coffee. "I was going to tell you I loved you." □

CONCLUSION!

We were packing when the phone rang. Seth had a limp, but the doctor said he would be fine, a gay doctor who obviously thought Seth was a hustler I was having checked over. Seth wasn't happy with the move, not because he was leaving anything behind, but because he was in pain...

"Yeah?" I answered, thinking Sam had the gang pegged down; my heart-beat quickened.

"I have sent my son to fetch you," Sensei said.

"Yes, Sensei," I submitted, my heart as quick but for a different reason.

He hung up.

"I'm going to Sensei's," I told Seth.

His eyes showed interest but nothing more. He nodded and kept on packing.

"If Sam calls while I'm out, tell him not tonight," I told Seth.

"Yes, Sir!" Seth replied, emphasizing the 'Sir' as if to reassure me that I was still in command.

I went upstairs, stripped down, and threw underwear and socks into the laundry hamper. I went to the bathroom, washed up at the sink, shaved, brushed my teeth, continuously concentrating on my breathing so I wouldn't do a sloppy job. I wanted to be ready when my ride arrived but there was time. Sensei didn't have to forewarn me; he knew I would have gone with his son at the mention of his name.

The blurred outlines in the fogged mirror showed me to be in good condition, worthy of my master. I could be better, I knew, but I wasn't sure in precisely what way. I was still caught up in the illusion of my individuality, still needed a guide.

I dressed quickly, clean jeans and polo shirt. I dropped my belt, keys, knife and wallet into the desk caddy, slipped on loafers and went outside to wait.

It was a cool evening. I thought I could smell a touch of fall in the air. It hurt to think of giving up fall. I put the thought from my mind and knelt by the pine tree in the side yard, settling back on my heels.

It was time to clear my head, to withdraw into nothingness, to exist without attitude. My mind was too full; it was hard to drift away. I was still not there when the boy pattered in on his moped.

He nodded when I got on behind him and we crawled off. I felt ridiculous, almost as if on a tricycle, as we pattered down the road. The bike couldn't break 25mph; the trip would take half an hour with me huddled against the kid in front of me, feeling the boy's ass and trying to keep my mind off it, hearing the taunts from passing cars and trying to ignore them. I felt like a knight put into an oxcart for public humiliation. I rode praying no biker would come past us.

It was with great relief that I saw Sensei's house come into view. It was a small rancher, immaculate and secluded. Like its owner, it presented a neat, modest exterior that hid the depths of development. Sensei's gardens stretched out behind the house; the house itself was only for sleeping, cooking, studying.

Steve, the Sensei's kid, gunned the moped and it gained just enough speed to crawl up the driveway and into the garage. Sensei's Mercedes occupied half of it; the material that would normally constitute garage clutter was neatly organized into the other half.

Steve got off the moped, parked it carefully, stored his helmet with his gloves, and pushed the wall button so the door descended.

"You are to strip," he told me and made a big deal of watching, a kid with a smirk watching me strip down. He motioned for me to follow once I was nude and led me out the back door into the gardens.

We walked down a lane of boxwood to the center court where Sensei sat on a platform in a small grove of trees and talked to his wife. Cages of canaries and crickets, and lanterns swung from the tree limbs; the birds were singing in their light. A small table held food and the implements for tea. Sensei's wife nodded and took little notice of my nudity; she had seen it before. I approached and knelt behind Steve.

"Ah, Mako," Sensei said after a few moments. "I thought to share this evening with you."

"Thank you, Sensei," I muttered.

He said nothing but sat listening to the birds, the breeze, the night crickets. His wife and son sat as quietly. I sat wondering what he had in mind, whether Sam had found the bikers, whether Seth was safe alone. Sensei began the preparation of the tea: grinding the green tea in the mortar, heating the pot with a quick double swish, adding tea to hot water, examining the cups, setting them in order, whisking the tea about in the pot, then pouring a cup, examining it and making as if to hand it to me, then pulling the cup away from my hand.

"But your cup's already full," he told me.

The old tale of attitude and again true; I was too full of my petty worries to seek anything more.

"No excuse, Sensei," I told him.

Sensei smiled, a pitying, paternal smile, and turned to Steve.

"Please show this one the glen," he asked.

Steve bowed, his face a mask. He got up; I followed. I knew the way to the glen very well: across the ornamental bridge, behind the trees, just about to the little fountain. A few pieces of weathered wood formed simple frames and benches.

Steve indicated one that looked like a hitching post of waist height. I bent over it and tried to concentrate on the gurgling water. But I heard him taking off his shirt and selecting a cane from among the bundle wrapped in oilskin.

"There is only the present," I told myself as other thoughts leaked in.

"Whoosh. Pop!" The cane cut the air and then cut me. I lurched into the wood and Steve laughed. Anger rose in me at the sound.

"Whosh, Pop!" I was hit again and again as I was filled with pain and anger at this punk who laughed.

Steve paused after fifteen strokes and walked to the fountain to cool his hand. I looked at him and saw Sensei's son, saw the reflection of my own ego and then gave up my anger. The beating was earned; all I could lose was my pride and some of my body, which all men lose.

"Please, Sir," I called out. "Please continue."

Steve bowed slightly and came back. The cane cut into my body but slowly I was able to draw myself from it and accept it. He stopped. We cleansed ourselves at the fountain before returning to Sensei.

Sensei nodded and smiled at me.

"And what did you learn this pleasant evening?" he asked.

"That I was afraid of losing that which will be lost," I answered. "So afraid that I couldn't find that which one can keep."

"A valuable lesson, grasshopper," Sensei joked, amused at my attempt to sound profound. "Have you expressed gratitude?"

"Not to the extent I would wish," I replied.

Sensei turned to his son. "This slave wishes to express gratitude for your teaching," he said. "What would please you?"

Steve sat and thought. He knew it was something of a test. He knew his parents were quite open about sexual matters but he seemed somewhat embarrassed by his mother's presence. It was a problem for him, how to reinforce my slavery in the manner he desired without displaying himself. I watched passively, content to serve.

Finally he smiled. He had thought of a way.

"This slave is a powerful fighter," Steve said. "I respect his courage yet he is a slave. I'd like to share this slave's strength without lowering myself to his level. I'd like to drink of his manhood in my tea and humble him by our watching him perform as a child does."

His mother hid her mouth behind her hands but her eyes were wide with interest in me. Sensei nodded to his son and handed me the cup. I bowed, placed the cup between my knees and began to masturbate.

They watched intently as I masturbated; only the Orientals can take such unabashed interest in all facets of life. I kept at it, no fantasy in mind, nothing but the feeling of submission, of doing in public what I had so often done in hiding as a boy.

I felt totally a slave, with no right to shame, no responsibility for correct behavior, no purpose but to bring pleasure to my masters. There was freedom in it, and sensuality, and desire. I wanted them to see me cum, wanted the earth to shake with it, the heavens resound with it.

Perhaps my expectations were a bit high but it was a fine spurting and as I caught my breath I looked down to see my cum where the stilling tea was swirled with ropes of pearl.

I bowed and handed the cup to Steve. He sat quietly, taking in the cup and that within it. Then he drank it in two short gulps, nodded to the cup again and sat it down.

"Most tasty," he told me.

"Thank you," I stammered, not sure of how to address him.

Sensei nodded and his wife and son left the two of us alone in the shadows. He poured me some tea and I drank it slowly, trying to appreciate the art of the cup, the life of the tea. I felt something, like shadows in the forest, but saw nothing.

"You are an enigma to me," the Sensei told me. "Too much pride, as in all westerners, yet self-respect. Why are you content to just wander in this life, blown upon circumstance?"

I looked up dully. It was true I had no real dreams, no set ambition. "I am what I want to be," I said.

"Yes," he said. "A child. I suppose you must do this thing with this... this Ninja?"

I nodded.

"There is no honor in it," he said evenly.

I nodded.

He reached into his kimono and brought out a small scroll. "This may be of some small use to you in Florida," he told me.

"Thank you, Sensei," I said with a small bow and wondering how he knew of Florida.

He sat watching me, his face, as always, a mask.

"I do not believe I'll use you," he said at last.

"I'm sorry, Sir," I told him, my heart slowing. He shook his head at my disappointment, let the mask slip a bit and I thought he was disappointed in me somehow, that I had stepped away from the careful web of life he was constructing.

"Please go," he dismissed me and turned to his birds.

I turned and walked away, filled with my inability to offer thanks, inability to even make him proud of me. I opened the garage door and stopped, shocked by the picture Steve made as he knelt nude upon my clothes and jerked his cock over my jeans. His mouth fell open but he didn't stop.

"I thought you'd be longer," he said.

"Enjoy yourself," I told him, remembering the recent show I had put on.

Steve seemed to remember also, at least his breathing heightened and he began to arch. His tongue came to his lips.

"We could do more," he offered.

A tempting offer; he was all soft tapers, pliable and exotic. His black hair glistened and I wanted him, but he was too young.

"This is enough," I told him. "Keep the show going; let's see how much a punk like you can squirt!"

He got into the abuse. He whipped his cock about in hypermotion, one hand went back to cup his buttocks and he kept to it.

"You had my load," I told him. "It should give you some strength," I stopped as he was squirting, long ropes that fell into my jeans as his panting gave way to little satisfied grunts.

He sat and watched me pull the jeans on, saw the damp spots I felt against my skin and smiled at me. Then he too got dressed. He ground his ass back towards me as we rode home but I did not respond. I was suddenly empty. It was as if everything was coming to its end.

I kept Seth busy packing. It kept his mind off things, but I could tell he was sulking, not refusing anything but doing things without his normal enthusiasm. The house was full of half-packed boxes and lists of things to do but I sat in my chair with my feet up on a cardboard box and drank Jack Daniels, my mind filled with anger. I felt trapped, headed nowhere; even Seth's nude body was an affront, a great prize I was no longer worthy of. His pretty ass was a knife at my ribs and my eyes kept on it as I drank my bourbon.

"Get some clothes on!" I ordered surly.

There was hurt in his eyes as he turned to me and nodded, and the knife was to my ribs once more.

"Over my lap!" I commanded.

He came and draped himself into position. I reached up and hit that threatening ass one powerful shot, brought a yelp from him, pulled him back and my anger was gone. I had no reason to beat him, not for my pleasure or displeasure. I reached for my bourbon with one hand and massaged his ass with the other and felt his cock grow against my lap.

I had no reason to feel bad about hitting my slave; he was mine to beat, but I wasn't at peace with myself. I was faking something. I worked on getting drunk. It was my best way to re-examine what I missed sober.

"Anything is permissible if you are prepared to suffer the consequences." Sensei's words came back to me.

"What consequences? Jail? It held no real terror for me. I had seen enough of the hypocrisy of society to have little fear of its condemnation, and being locked up where I could meditate, fight and make boys was not much different from the world I was already imprisoned in.

I poured some of the bourbon into Seth's ass, worked it into his asshole with my finger and set the glass on his back so he couldn't move much as I reconsidered the consequences.

I had been insulted and was striking back, very samurai on the surface yet the insult was to me, to pride held above service to Sensei and the way. And in striking back I was treating those peasants as equals, as if they had had equal access to education and culture, as if they felt about more than physical needs or as if I didn't. And the bikers had some case against me. I had interfered and taken Seth from them, injured one of their people and the injuries done me were not equal to the prize I had taken, the fine ass before me.

I finished up the bourbon and set the glass aside.

"Stand up, boy," I whispered.

He stood before me, his cock hard, his body trembling slightly and all goosebumped, his nipples hard and inviting. I pulled him to me; he hesitated a moment not sensing what I wanted, then came to my pressure.

The cock was soft, sweet. He smelled young, like dawn on the ocean. His cock was a jetty, hard yet pointing to the eternal. A drop of salty precum wet my lips as my mouth walked the length of the jetty. His breathing was very rapid; his pulse was thumping deep in his chest.

Seth was very careful at first, not sure what was expected of him. I was remembering old cocks, thirsting to refresh myself in his young cum, wanting to suck my slave dry. My own cock rose hard in my jeans, my cum-scabbed jeans. I cupped both his cheeks in my hands and pulled him to me. He gave in to it, twisting, grunting.

I wanted him all, sought to suck his youth out from his cock as through a straw. His cock teased my mouth from the all-but-choking thickness when his pubic hairs teased my cheeks, down the taper to where the tongue could come into play up to the puzzle grooves of the head. My jaws began to ache but it was a minor ache, easily ignored in the face of the tactile pleasure of taking him: producing grunts with my tongue, lips or suction, playing him as an instrument, as the skin flute of schoolboy taunts.

Finally he cried and shuddered and I felt the wetness fill my mouth. I slowed but kept at him until his cock withered away. I pushed him off and swallowed; the cum was milky, thick, salty, the basis of the sea—the basis of life.

Seth was catching his breath; I pushed him to the floor, pushed him on his back.

"Absolutely still!" I ordered as I squatted over him and once more began to work my own cock as I stared down at my slaveboy, my possession, my trust. Once more he had brought out my own imperfection, set me back on the path. There is no better mirror to a man than his slave. My one hand kept to my cock; the other began to explore my gut and chest, reaffirming my strength, my worthiness to rule.

Seth opened his mouth to catch my cum; I slapped him and he shut his mouth, his eyes slits, his breathing hard, desiring the flow.

"You're mine," I thought. "Mine, mine. Lips, ass, cock, soul."

My cum dripped from his nose, puddled upon his cheek, lips and chin: strings and puddles. He lay panting, one eye closed to the cum. I wiped it away and gave him my finger to taste as a reward.

"Keep still," I told him. "I've got a phone call to make."

He lay still, my cum on his face as I called Slick Sam.

"Hello?" he grunted.

I heard giggling in the background.

"Sam, it's off," I told him.

"Five days' pay!" he told me, then caught his breath and grunted. Someone knew how to please Sam.

"Sure," I told him and hung up.

Seth was hard again. I squatted over his face, let him fit himself to me, leaned forward, grabbed his legs, pulled them up, splayed him out. I felt his tongue in my asshole, gently blew upon his to watch it contract. I rimmed it and watched it contract, seeking me. His tongue had me hard quite soon but I sat and enjoyed for maybe five minutes. Then I whirled around and jammed myself into him. His eyes showed pain for a minute and then pleasure.

"We're not going anywhere," I told him. The fact that he was pinned to the floor like an insect to a board emphasized the point.

"Yes, Sir," he grunted.

I began to fuck him very, very slowly, watching my thick cock sneak out of his asshole a centimeter at a time.

"Have to teach you handgun proficiency," I told him.

"Yes, Sir," he grunted again.

"Much to teach you," I told him, feeling the tickling in my asshole telling me it was about time.

"Please, Sir," he grunted.

I gave it to him a bit harder, not too hard as I was a bit drained but hard enough to let him feel he could pull it from me.

THE HOTWIRE

It was almost dark, the winter moon having already set. Pablo was surprised to find that the door of the expensive brown and yellow van was unlocked. Crouching quickly down, he knew he better work fast. Already he could see a few of the workers from the construction site making their way to their cars and trucks in the dusty makeshift parking lot. Glancing about the plush interior, he could see it would be worth a lot of money. Yoz would be proud of him. He'd have to accept him now. This would probably make it for him.

Attaching the two wires was not as simple as he thought and, getting down on his knees to better look under the complicated dash, he had to take a few moments to figure out what wires led where. Attaching one, he had only to try a couple of other contact points. He wished he had a pocket flashlight. He'd get one as soon as Yoz gave him some money. "Just about got it started, have you?" he heard a deep voice ask. "Why, you son-of-a-bitch, get your ass out of there!" And suddenly, Pablo felt powerful hands grab him by the neck and under the crotch and force him face down on the ground beside the van. Struggling to see what his captor looked like, he felt a heavy foot on the base of his spine. The same two hands reached quickly under him, pulling off his worn thin belt, and began to bind his wrists together behind him.

"Now, thief, let's have a look at you!" the stern voice snapped, and with a yank, Pablo was pulled from the ground and onto his feet. In sudden shock and terror, he looked frantically up at the tall, heavy set man in T-shirt, Levis and work boots. He hadn't thought for a moment he'd ever get caught. He could tell his captor was an older man by the touch of grey in his short blond hair.

"Okay!" said the big man gruffly. "Into the van and let's turn you over to Security so they can call the cops. Little buddy hotwire, you'll be on your way to jail in no time!"

Quivering and on the verge of tears, Pablo eased himself awkwardly into the van and sat in the passenger seat as the big man climbed quickly in beside him and started the engine.

"Well, I'll be damned!" The man swore again as they pulled out of the parking lot and drove toward the security gate. "I leave this thing for two fuckin' minutes and what do I find? Some fuckin' no-good punk tryin' to hotwire it. Funny I didn't see you. What the hell were you doin'? Squattin' on your ass behind another car or somethin'?"

Pablo could see a guard standing outside the gate house. "Por favor, senor" he said. "I am sorry for trying to steal your van. It was the first time. I cannot find a job so a friend said he would give me a little money and a place to stay if I would steal a car for him. I don't know what to do. I have no money." And the tears began to burn the lids of his eyes. "I am sorry, senor."

"What a line of bullshit that is!" retorted the man. "That's all you hear today. Young punks stealin' and rapin' and knockin' old ladies down for their purses. I'm sick to death of it, I tell you. I'm really pissed off. Well, I'm glad I caught one of you."

Pablo's throat began to dry as tears rolled down his cheeks. Why didn't Yoz tell him it might be like this? He said just be careful, that's all. Not to worry. Just don't let anyone see you.

As they neared the gate, Pablo asked: "Will the police hurt me, senor? I have never been with the police. This is my first time."

"How old are you, punk?" the big man said.

"Sixteen and a half," Pablo replied.

Instead of stopping at the gate, the big man drove swiftly past the gate to the parking lot exit.

"Tell you what I'm gonna do, little buddy hotwire," he said. "I had a bitch of a day on the site today and I'm in a rotten mood. We can either drive back to the gate and turn you over to the cops or drive out to a place of mine I'm fixing up. I've just the spot to beat your ass."

Pablo swallowed hard. "If you will not beat me too hard, senor, I would like to go with you. I will suck your cock if you wish me to. I am very good."

"Well, I don't intend to injure you," the big man promised, steering the van onto the highway, "but I'll guarantee you one thing; you're gonna get a real hot feelin' every time you bend over to hotwire some guy's car."

The man didn't speak for a long time and Pablo did not want to say anything. They were driving into the country, past what looked like small farms or homesteads. Suddenly the big man slowed the van and turned slowly into a rough dirt driveway that led through a strand of trees to an old house. Pulling up beside it, the senor shut off the engine and turned out the lights. Coming around to Pablo's side, he unlocked the door, took him by the upper arm and helped him out of the van.

In the still darkness, the senor guided him along a path to a small white structure, or shed, at the rear of the house. Inserting a key from a chain attached to his belt, he opened the padlock, reached in and snapped on a dull light. "Come on in," he said to Pablo, and pulled the door closed behind them.

Silently and fearfully, Pablo watched him as he took two wooden crates and, placing them a few feet apart, laid two boards across them. Then from a shelf he took a dusty quilted cover and, folding it in half, laid it over the boards. With his finger he motioned to Pablo, "Okay, buddy," he said, "this is where you learn a good lesson."

As Pablo approached, the senor freed his wrists from behind him and secured them together again in front of him. Then he ordered Pablo to lie face down on the covered boards, stretching his arms above his head. Removing the chain of keys, the senor began unbuckling the wide Levi belt about his waist.

"Are you going to beat me with your belt, senor?" asked Pablo dryly.

His question ignored, he watched the senor slip the end of the belt through the buckle end and, feeling his shoes being pulled off, felt his ankles being secured together. He began to feel afraid.

"Do not hurt me too much, senor," he begged. "I am sorry I tried to steal your van."

With rough hands, the senor reached under him and loosened his jeans. "These pants of yours are so worn and tight," he said, "that I needn't take them down at all, but I want your ass nice and bare." And with a yank, Pablo felt his jeans being pulled down to his ankles.

"No wonder they looked tight!" scoffed the senor. "No underwear."

"No, senor," Pablo squirmed, not liking his small round buttocks suddenly exposed. "Just my pants."

He felt the senor's big hand move briskly over his quivering bottom. "You're pretty lean," he heard the senor say. "Not much meat on you. What does this friend of yours do to you? Starve you to death?"

"I have not been with him long, senor," said Pablo. "I ran away from home a week ago and rode from Arizona with a trucker who gave me a ride. Yoz gave me a place to stay and something to eat if I would steal a car for him."

"Why did you want to run away?" the big man asked.

"My mother has a boy friend who does not like me," Pablo answered. "He threw me against a wall because I was in the way."

"Well, I don't know if I believe that shit or not," the big man said, "but just the same, I plan to do you a favor." As he walked to a cupboard, Pablo watched him reach in and bring out a long leather strap with a handle. He noticed the end of it had been cut into strips. His heart began to pound.

"When the wife and I first bought this place," the senor explained, "we had two sons. They're both grown now, and the wife's gone. She died a few years ago, so I've been renting it out. I homesteaded the place while the kids were young and used to bring them in here to get their butts tanned when they needed it. What one didn't think of, the other did, so their bare bottoms got to know the feel of this strap pretty well. Must not have hurt them; they turned out okay. One's a building contractor and the other's a police lieutenant."

Positioning himself beside Pablo, he placed a hand on the base of Pablo's spine. "I'd forgotten about this strap until I met a guy one night at a truck stop. He mentioned he liked a little discipline, and when I brought him here and showed him my strap, he suggested I cut the bottom six inches into three or four strips. When I beat his ass with it, he nearly went out of his mind. I know I hurt him, yet even when his butt was a mass of welts, he begged me not to stop. Said it was the best he ever felt. I never met a guy like that before."

Suddenly, Pablo heard him raise the strap and, as it whished through the air, he felt the first blow. It wasn't painful but it made him nervous and he started to squirm as he felt the second full across his buttocks. Then the strap struck his right thigh, then across the buttocks again, the thong-like ends beginning to sting a little. The senor began to increase the tempo and force of the strap.

"Just think about hotwiring my van as I whip your ass," he said, administering the strap more painfully now. "Just ask yourself if you think it was worth it."

The strap began to burn and sting as the senor struck the same tender spots a second and third time. The thongs stung sharply. Moving to his other side, the senor began to whip the left side of his buttocks and thighs. Pablo bounced to free himself but the strap caught him painfully every time across the bare behind.

"Oh, senor, por favor!" he gasped, the strapping becoming unbearable. "Please! Por favor! It hurts so much, senor."

Just a few more to help you remember, little buddy," snapped the senor. "I could just as easily have handed you over to the cops."

His buttocks and thighs searing from the strapping, Pablo was grateful when the senor suddenly stopped and hung the strap on a nail in the wall. "Oh, thank you, senor," he sobbed. "Thank you. It was a good whipping."

"I'll just leave it handy on the wall here," the senor said, "in case I have to use it on you again." Then, bending over to pick up a wooden stool, he placed it on the floor in front of Pablo's head. Watching the look in Pablo's eyes, he spread his legs and began to lower the zipper of his fly. "I believe you offered to suck my dick," he said, reaching into his shorts and pulling out a long hairy cock. "Well, I think one favor deserves another."

Pablo watched intently as the senor pulled on the roll of soft flesh until it lengthened and the lips of the bulbous head began to twitch. Hungrily, Pablo ran his tongue along the dry lips of his mouth, watching as the senor pulled and pulled on the thickening shaft.

Slowly the senor sat down on the stool and, drawing Pablo's head into his crotch, fed his dick into Pablo's eager mouth. At first, because he was still nervous, Pablo felt he was going to choke as the senor pushed the cock deeper into his mouth.

"There now!" said the senor, letting up at last and patting Pablo's cheeks. "You just suck that big thick dick till I'm ready to shoot my load," and Pablo felt the senor's big hands massage his face.

As Pablo sucked and ran his tongue along the tender underpart of the big man's cock, he could feel the burning feeling in his buttocks easing slightly and, glancing up at the wall, studied the leather strap hanging from the nail. Suddenly, he felt exhilarated and strangely happy. He did not believe the senor was a cruel man, only a strong man. He did not believe the senor would hurt him any further. Now he was not afraid, but rather, enjoyed what he was feeling—being naked, having been punished for a wrong he did—alone with the senor.

After awhile, he felt the senor's hands tighten about his cheeks and the long thick dick grow hard. As it thrust deeper into his throat, he heard the senor say: "Okay, little buddy, here it comes!" and suddenly Pablo could feel the warm smooth semen sliding down his throat. He swallowed gently two or three times, surprised he did not choke or feel sick to his stomach. It was the first time he had eaten a man's cum and it felt wonderful.

Still sitting on the stool in front of him, the senor reached behind him for a handkerchief from his back pocket. As he wiped his penis slowly, he said, "I've been thinkin', little buddy. I'd like to see you get off this stealin' kick for good and make something of yourself, and let that so-called friend of yours, Yoz, go fuck himself. Tomorrow is Friday. How about I set up a cot for you to sleep out here in the shed and, in the morning, we'll have some breakfast and I'll take you to work with me and see if the foreman will take you on as a laborer. Then, how about spending the weekend helping me clean this place up? I may decide to move back here. I'll give you a few dollars to tide you over till you get your first paycheck."

Pablo looked up at the stern blue eyes. "I would like that, senor," he said. "Very much. I will work very hard."

He watched a wide grin come over the senor's face as he tilted his blond hair toward the wall. "You better! You see that strap over there, dontcha?"

Pablo nodded. "Thank you, senor. Maybe it will help me to be like your sons."

The senor smiled broadly as he ran a hand through Pablo's thick dark hair. "If you think you'd like to try, we'll give it a whirl for a couple of days. In the meantime, I'll keep that strap handy. I almost wore it out using it on my kids."

Pablo looked at him and grinned. Then the senor freed his wrists and ankles. "Come in the house," he said, "and we'll have a bite to eat. Then we'll set up the cot and make you a bed out here."

Later that evening, after turning out lamp beside his cot, Pablo sat for a few moments in the dark and felt how lucky he was. He was glad he would not have to work for Yoz anymore. In fact, Yoz needn't know whatever happened to him. As he gazed about the shed, moonlight shone gently through the small dusty window and illuminated the razor strop hanging on the wall. His eyes glued to it, Pablo snuggled under the covers. It was going to be nice spending the weekend here. He would try very hard to please his new friend and maybe the senor would ask him to stay. It would be nice to be able to stay with the senor. □

Dear Larry,

This isn't strictly an SM question, but I'm sure a lot of leather guys are in the same situation as many gays in general. My lover and I have been together for almost fifteen years, and we have both been doing quite well financially for the last seven or eight years. I'm 42 and he's 38, both in good health. But we'd still like to do whatever we can to assure that the survivor will be able to keep everything we've both worked for, when the day comes that one of us departs this vale of sorrow. We both have families (brothers, sisters, nieces, nephews, etc). What should we do, just in general terms!

(name withheld) Sacramento, CA

Dear Nameless,

Now I'm supposed to be a lawyer! Well, since we both live in California, I can tell you how my attorney advised us. However, the rules are going to vary from one state to another, especially those bible belt areas where gay relationships are not recognized. First, make out wills leaving everything to each other. Have a lawyer draw them up, and try to find an experienced man who is familiar with gay estate planning. There are a couple of loopholes you want to plug, just in case the family wants to contest it. Secondly, make sure your house or other real property, in addition to whatever investments you have, are held in joint tenancy. Thirdly, if your relationship with your family is such that you can do so, discuss your arrangements with them, and try to get them to understand that you regard your relationship exactly as a married heterosexual couple would regard theirs. If you can head off a legal challenge to your will(s), there should not be much problem in California. One way to reassure any potential heirs is to have an agreement that the surviving partner is going to leave a will that remembers the deceased partner's nieces and nephews. That's only fair, anyway, and it takes away the main excuse for a challenge.

Dear Mr. Townsend, Sir!

I have read most of your writings— all that I could lay my hands on, but I still do not understand why you insist on an M's having the right to set limits, while you have no sympathy for a slave who has his limits exceeded. They seem to me to be the same, or almost the same thing.

Bottom in New Orleans

Dear Bottom,

"Almost" or "close" only counts in horseshoes. There is a world of difference between an M and a slave. An M is, in effect, an independent contractor. He picks his Masters, and can elect to go with whomever is willing to take him on. He lives his own life and determines his own destiny except for the few hours

THE LEATHER NOTEBOOK

by Larry Townsend

when he submits himself to the Top. He has not given up the right to set limits, and to back out of a scene if it gets too heavy. A slave surrenders himself completely to one Master. He gives up the right of self-determination, and if he is a proper slave he takes his pleasure from the pleasure he is able to afford his Master. If he can't do this, he is not a slave. Thus, when someone writes to me, claiming to be a slave, but sniveling about his treatment... well, you've obviously seen my responses.

Dear Larry,

This may sound like a silly question, but you might be able to settle an argument by answering it. What is the maximum, safe weight to hang from a guy's balls? I know this will vary with the individual, but generally speaking, what is a ballpark figure?

Jock in New York

Dear Jock,

I think you have answered your own question. The weight is going to vary, and greatly so, from one guy to the next. A beginner may freak out at a couple of pounds. At a recent Hellfire Inferno, a friend on mine lost the ball weight lifting contest when his ball stretcher broke at 37 pounds. The guy who won this year lifted 20 pounds and said he could have gone higher, but his competition pooped out. For the average experienced guy, in "ballpark" figures, I'd say somewhere between five and ten pounds is plenty. Even that's going to be too much for some, not enough for others.

Dear Larry,

Just a snide question. I was at Inferno this year and I saw your new van. I like the black and blue motif, but the black is vinyl instead of leather. How come, big leatherman?

(Unsigned) Houston, TX

Dear unsigned,

To quote the Bard of Avon, "Costly thy dress as thy purse can buy..." If you'd peeked into the side cabinet, however, you'd have found leather where it counts. (Besides, my Doberpersons won't chew vinyl, but they sometimes do a real number on leather.) Sorry about that!

Dear Larry,

I recently had a very heavy scene with a Top I had been wanting to go with for a long time. However, he used a cattle prod on me, among other things. Although I was very turned on at the time (and I was also on acid), I have been limping ever since, because my leg and butt muscles feel like they are knotted into one great mass. I also have a few marks on my skin that look like bruises. I suppose by the time you get this, answer it, and it gets published (if it ever does), I'll either be over it, or in the hospital. The problem is, I don't have a doctor I can go to and tell him what really happened, so I'm in a terrible dilemma. Can you tell me what injuries I might have sustained, and whether it is something I should have taken care of? If you'd drop me a quick note, I'd appreciate it. Then go ahead and answer my question in Drummer if you want.

Sore in Dallas

Dear Sore,

Again noting that I am not a doctor, hence only able to give advice on the basis of my own and other people's shared experiences, let me make a couple of comments on cattle prods in general, then try to relate to your experience. Although I am sure the people who make cattle prods know full well that they are not all going to be used on cows, the devices are still produced as if solely for that purpose. The hide of a cow is akin to a thick steel plate, whereas yours is closer to tissue paper. If a cattle prod with more than three batteries (usually "C" cells) is used on a human, there is always the risk of either burning the skin or muscle tissue, or else causing the muscle to cramp. If the subject is restrained too tightly, he is unable to relieve the cramp by straightening out his leg, or whatever part of his anatomy is involved. There is also a bruising effect from too high a charge. There is also the possibility of either dislocating a joint or tearing a ligament when the play gets too heavy.

The chances are, in your case, that you're suffering from the same effect as if you had overdone it in the gym (too many squats, with too heavy a weight). If you are not well on the mend by the time you get my note, however, I would definitely have it checked out. Whatever embarrassment you feel in confessing your "sins" to the doctor is going to be far less than living the rest of your life with a fucked-up leg. And next time, skip the acid or anything else that is going to blunt your pain reactions. If you can't respond to the stress, your Top is not properly warned that he is going too far.

GIVE IT TO HIM

This new latex cock harness from The Pleasure Chest keeps it up front, erect and handy. Straps adjust to size and prevent its sticking out. Prevents playing with it and makes peeing without permission difficult. Water proof with a leather look. About $60. What a gift!

GIVE IT TO HIM

TAKE A LOOK AT WHAT'S NEW IN THE LEATHER WORLD
There are many exciting things happening to an old theme all over the country, indeed the entire world. From Brussels comes amazing new latex (rubber) products that look like leather but are more durable and have a different appeal. From Canada we have daring new designs from a craftsman who has been indicted by the government for creating such items. Much of the world-scouring has been done by Robert Bartalo of the Pleasure Chest who has come back to Hollywood with a treasure/Pleasure Chest full of goodies. In this special DRUMMER supplement, we present at the time for giving some suggestions in what's new and best in the world of leather.

A slave's collar that looks like a '58 Buick. More studs and chrome than any we've seen. Beautifully made of heavy cowhide with leash ring. Solid. Contact King's Men, Ltd., Cambridge, Mass.

(Across the top) For making house calls, the lightweight, portable sling from The Hide House in Minneapolis is perfect. A removable head rest puts the user's head in position for service and total access from the front. Our participants are wearing and/or using Wrist/Ankle restraints made of nylon or leather, the latter for easy cleanup, varying in width from 1½" to 3" and priced from $45 to $70 a pair.

SOME MORE EXAMPLES OF THE NEW USES FOR LATEX. Here is a Corselet that laces up for rigid control. The cockring and additional belt with butt plug add $24 to the $65 cost.

DRUMMER 48

(Next page, upper left) Black or transparent latex brief lets it all hang or stick out and is available for $25 in the Pleasure Chest Itex collection.

(Opposite page top) A full Latex brief with cockring to let it out for air. In Black or transparent in three sizes. $40. Pleasure Chest, L.A.

(Bottom Right) Tufted, hollow-fill, insulated black leather jacket $325. Sizes 36-42. Full grain cowhide pants with seamless leg, snap or zipper front, all sizes to 36 waist. $275. From The Leather Man in New York.

(Above) Jump Suit in black cere by Mr. S. Worn open or zipped, excellent for discoing or anywhere one wears a jump suit. Body hugging. About $40.

(Left) Latex Full Tank Corset, crotchless and seatless. Fits like your skin in both black and transparent latex. Around $50.

Full body harness with chrome hardware that is completely adjustable. Looks like leather but subject can be as wet as you wish. $78 Pleasure Chest.

Full latex suit with feet, sleeves, hood and gloves. Eye, mouth and nose openings only which is all he needs. In black naturally. Entire ensemble $355.

Latex Turtleneck and pants with the unmistakable feel of rubber. Top $75, Bottom $175. Everything on these two pages is from The Pleasure Chest.

(Upper left corner) Afrika-Korp cap from Germany. In khaki manufactured by a former Rommel officer. From Brall International. $18.95.

(Below) 'Hun' T-shirt, "Beatin' Meat" signed by the artist. $10 from The Shop at The Stud and The Pits in Los Angeles.

(Below and above) Upper Body Harness from Mr. S. San Francisco. Lower band can be worn up tight or as shown. Studded and chains. $65. Matching studded collar/arm band 11.50. Continuous zipper pants are $275, custom only.

(Right) Locked Cock Ring imported from Fetters N.Y./London, available from Pleasure Chest Hollywood. Modeled after 15th century English shackles.

NEW HEAVY DUTY ELECTRIC
VACUUM SYSTEM

Adds 2" to 3" in length, but more amazing it can double or triple your thickness.

This system is so powerful that you will never need to use full power—however the vacuum can be adjusted up or down.
There are just too many success stories on this one to pass it up.

SIMPLY THE MOST POWERFUL
SYSTEM YOU CAN

LEAN, INTENSE, SENSUAL

Bi-sex man is interested in locating another natural man who realizes his need for a buddy who knows the honest gut-pleasure—through trust—of discovering and sharing the touch, smell, taste, and sound only a man comfortable with himself can provide. The energy I want to share is so basic and honest, it seems few "gays" know it exists. Long, slow, mind-n-soul fuckin' is where it all begins. If you, too, need a man who'll openly and proudly share what he knows and has, you may have found your partner! I'm 6 ft; 150 lbs; 42 yrs.; greying black hair, beard, and mustache; with a natural, uncut dick that'll hang a heavy 7 inches for the buddy that talks to it right. Dig sweat, hair, holes, nipples, foreskin, lo-swingin' balls, and other natural delights. If you're interested and got the balls to talk straight, shoot a no bull-shit note my way. Travel is possible. Box 61.

CASTELPORZIANO: SEVEN YEARS DEAD

Seven years ago this past November, Pier Paolo Pasolini was murdered on the beach at Ostia in Italy. Arrested and convicted for the crime was Giuseppe Pelosi, a 17-year-old with a police record for petty crimes: thief of property, car thief, acts of juvenile delinquency; a perfect example of the subproletariat class Pasolini defended in his literature and films. Three separate, but related, events have brought the death and life of Pier Paolo Pasolini back into the public eye: the translation into English of Enzo Siciliano's masterful biography, Pasolini (Random House, 1982, 436 pgs, $20.00); as well as a translated anthology of his poetry, as well as the release of a documentary film, Castelporziano.

Non-Italian movie audiences probably do not know that Pasolini was a novelist, poet, literary critic, and social commentator. His published titles number slightly over fifty. His articles and editorials were published on the front pages of popular Italian newspapers; often because editors and publishers knew that Pasolini's opinions on Italian life and the Italian political system would demand immediate and widespread attention; not to mention raise points of heated controversy. More often than not, Pasolini's newspaper pieces caused headaches in high places; his unbridled and frequent attacks on the failure of the communist and socialist parties to speak to the needs of the people brought strong and often pointed reactions from the ruling elite.

Pasolini stumbled into his film career. Because he was a consummate writer, and because his circle of friends included filmmakers, Pasolini began writing screenplays. He authored sections of Fellini's La Dolce Vita.

Pasolini published his first book in 1942, a collection of poetry that was so highly original that it brought him instant notability. By 1955 he was the center of Italy's literary world: his novel Ragazzi di Vita, about the lives of the subproletariats living on the outskirts of Rome, won the top Italian literary award. Four years later he produced an equally devastating and honored work, Una Vita Violenta, but also found himself at the center of a sexual scandal that altered both the direction of his personal life and his artistic career.

The Italians seem to have a blind eye when it comes to things sexual, at least under the right conditions. Heaven knows the Italians have at least a 2000 year history of sexual deviations and excesses. But when private matters are brought to public light, the outrage can be furious. Pasolini was 'caught' engaged in mutual masturbation (so the police report states) with three teenage boys. Questions of the corruption of morals, of coercion—the Western paens of indignation—never arose during Pasolini's trial. He had caused a public affront by his indiscretion as far as the law was concerned. But the incident, a forced coming-out long before such a stance was fashionable, changed

Pier Paolo.

In Enzo Siciliano's biography, the author finds patterns of behavior that are coupled with Italian history, with the Catholic Church, with Pasolini's feeling about his fascist father—an elaborate framework of social and psychological reasons for Pasolini's creative and sexual urges.

So, the now-openly homosexual Pasolini turned to filmmaking. In 1961, after he and Fellini had a brief but lasting dispute, Pasolini found a producer for his first feature film, Accattone. It was Ragazzi di Vita brought brilliantly to life. The world of the scroungers, from which the film takes its title, was a real world in Italian subculture that was itself far removed from the life Pasolini lived in Rome, but one which echoed in the poet/filmmaker's heartbeat. A whole new style of filmmaking was being developed during the 1960s in Italian cinema, one that was being admired and applauded all over the world; Pasolini was part of that cinematic rediscovery of form and content.

Film also seemed to give Pasolini a tighter hold on his philosophical leanings. While he was part-Marxist, he understood how well the communist party in Italy had fallen into terminal bureaucracy. While, intellectually, he was very much a part of the ruling class, he was spiritually a part of the uneducated, optionless lower class. Pasolini wanted to change the world's perspective of society in both a historical as well as immediate context through his films. The work that followed Accattone questioned, over and over again, the very foundation of social order.

But filmmaking for Pasolini was not a bed of roses. Works like his Marxist-orientated The Gospel According to Saint Matthew, while bringing him international fame, split the political and social leaders of his native country. The church, ironically, praised The Gospel; government leaders condemned it.

His next film, Teorema, was declared obscene and had to stand trial in Italy while it was being honored outside the country. The Decameron, the beginning of Pasolini's "Trilogy of Life" films, was also declared obscene. This struggle with government condemnation continued through the making of The Canterbury Tales and Arabian Nights.

In the last decade of his life, Pasolini worked at an amazing pace; filming, writing, editing, planning—all the while a basically unfulfilled man. His relationship with Ninetto Davoli, a young Italian actor who had appeared in a number of Pasolini's films, ended when Ninetto announced that it was time for him to get married and raise a proper family. By the time Arabian Nights was finished, Pasolini found himself in a unique situation—the most influential living Italian and the one figure the politbureau would most like to see silenced.

A turning point came in 1974 for Pier Paolo. His mother had died (his father had long since passed away—and both were key figures in his psychological development); Ninetto had indeed gotten married; he faced constant criticism from his extremely vocal and omnipresent political critics; and he realized that he had not been able to create in films a clear-cut historical understanding he felt necessary for the evolution of the Italian social state. Pasolini turned inward, to his dark side, and created, from the infamous novel 120 Days of Sodom his most powerful and provocative film, Salo. It would be his last.

Set in an imaginary republic ruled by Mussolini-inspired fascists (had the Allied invasion of Italy perhaps never taken place), Salo is the epitome of Pasolini's hatred of fascism and political power. It is the excess of power at its most dangerous. The imagery that Pasolini once held up as the most beautiful of metaphors, the very sexuality of his subproletariat class, in Salo becomes the focus of all that is evil in Italian (and world) society. It was not Pasolini turning his back on the world, nor was it a death-wish fulfilled through the cinema; instead, it was to be, and succeeds as the final example of Pasolini's raison d'être. What he celebrated in his "Trilogy of Life" he exposes, in Salo, as the dark nature he saw around him; but exposed as one would rip off a bandage covering a bleeding, festering sore to check on its progress as it ate its way into the very heart of the body it was consuming. While it is impossible to know if Pasolini could have surpassed the sheer impact of Salo had he lived, it is unlikely.

During the trial of Giuseppe Pelosi, a number of glaring inconsistencies arose between the various confessions he gave to the police and his sworn testimony in court. Journalist Oriana Fallaci brought these facts to the public's attention; the implication in her widely-read articles during and after the trial of Pelosi was that Pasolini was the victim of a conspiracy headed by high-ranking government officials. Political assassinations are hardly new in Italy; a few years earlier the country had witnessed the brutal murder of Alberto Moro by the Red Brigade. Italian school children learn of coups and political killings from the right and the left as part of their native history. Pasolini's younger brother, who had fought against the fascist state during WWII, had himself been murdered for political reasons by the Italian communists.

The court was quick to find Giuseppe Pelosi the lone killer of Pier Paolo Pasolini, allegedly because Pasolini had tried to sodomize him on the beach at Ostia on November 2, 1975, after having picked him up at a popular hangout for hustlers in Rome. Pelosi was himself a well-known street hustler, a scrounger, a subproletariat; perhaps a previous trick of the filmmaker. He beat Pasolini almost to the point of death with a board. While Pier Paolo lay, bleeding, still conscious, on the beach at Ostia, Pelosi drove the filmmaker's car back and forth over the body until Pasolini's heart burst from the pressure.

Because Pasolini was first known as a poet, because he was, in the eyes of the Italian literati, a poet of the cinema; a festival was organized in his honor to be held for three days on the beach at Ostia. Poets from all over the world would come and read, in his honor, to the public. Castelporziano is a documentary of the first poetry festival at Ostia. Subtitled Poetry and Madness at Ostia, it is also a tribute to the conflict between two worlds: one too painfully real; the other perhaps one that only exists in our imaginations, but is often equally painful. It is reflective of the daring of Pasolini as we watch poets known and unknown battle the elements, the crowd and each other for the few moments each spends in front of the microphones. It is a blend of the intelligentsia and the subproletariat that, like fire and water, cannot coexist. While words are dedicated to Pasolini, a sinking oil freighter burns offshore; militant political voices demand—to the point of disruption—to be heard, regardless of the time and place and purpose. Even the stage collapses under the burden. Gentle people cavort with wolves—the spirit of the filmmaker is personified.

But Pier Paolo Pasolini understood his place in the world better than anyone else:

"Like a blind man from whom something will escape in death that coincides with life itself..."

KILLER KRISTIANS

It's probably impossible to write about the new religious right in America, if you don't subscribe to their particular set of beliefs, without a great deal of passion. And if you set out to discover the new right, as Perry Deane Young does in God's Bullies, to try and comprehend what rationale rules the new leaders of religious fervor, you probably have to constantly remind yourself to pull in when what you really want to do is punch out only the worst examples you find.

So it becomes difficult to fault such an effort when the passion and the dirt creeps in.

Subtitled Power Politics and Religious Tyranny, God's Bullies (Holt Rhinehart Winston, 1982, 356 pages, 13.50) is a work, finally, of tremendous courage and unbridled passions. Everything you've ever suspected about the morons that run religion in America is, it turns out, true.

Starting with his own childhood amid southern religious oppression, Perry Young has to face up to the open hypocrisy of his environment and the fact that he is, himself, out of step with his ancestry. Perry is openly gay. In fact, his name may sound slightly familiar—he co-authored The Dave Kopay Story with the former football player who came out.

Perry Young has considered what went wrong with contemporary society and focuses on two cultural events that he feels led up to the current christian fundamentalist assault: Jimmy Carter and Anita Bryant. While both ultimately failed (Carter losing the second bid for the presidency and Bryant reduced to a ridiculous figure), from this fountainhead sprang the current shadow-governments of Falwell, The Moral Majority, and Richard A. Viguerie—the right wing direct mail millionaire who feeds funds into the ultra-right camps. Add to them a host of demi-gods: Jesse Helms, Terry Dolan, James Robinson, The Heritage Foundation, Coors, and Edward McAteer, and you have what cannot be called anything other than an attempt to violently overthrow the legitimate American government—a horror story presented as an illustrated biblical text.

Young actually went out and sought the heads of this pseudo-nation of fundamentalists, a brave act considering the tone and depth of some of his questions, and came back with interesting results. He calls Terry Dolan (the head of NCPAC, the wealthiest of the political action funds dedicated to electing fundamentalists and defeating liberals) a homosexual, confronts the man with his contemptuous life, and lives to tell the tale. His evidence against Dolan is damning. But the underlying truth is even more deadly: that a gay man could actively support the denial of rights to other gay men and could openly work for their persecution. It's no easy revelation.

While the Dolan scandal has gotten the lion's share of media attention since the release of God's Bullies, the other disclosures warrant as much attention. Young trained with Falwell's fundraisers to write about how the Lynchburg-based religious community operates, and the conclusion recalls another horror story to the reader's mind, Jim Jones and the Guyana People's Temple. Jones was no more a lunatic than Falwell, only the ultimate manifestation differs. While Jones demanded and ultimately achieved complete moral and physical domination over his followers, Falwell, for now, is content with the luxurious, gouché, lifestyle religious power has afforded him, and the hob-nobbing with the stars of the Washington circus he counts as his due. As for his effectiveness in national politics, it turns out to be less than he seeks. Conservatives on both sides of the Old Testament have denounced Falwell as a charlatan and a fool, with Senator Barry Goldwater going so far as to suggest, in public, that good christians should kick Falwell in the ass for his stupidity and arrogance.

But Young has more than the insides of the current new right to disclose. A little American history, told well in one chapter, points out the basic illusion of the new right. Ours was a country based on freedom from religion as much as religious freedoms, and America's founders were very clear how the Declaration should be worded to insure that the hordes of English religious fanatics would not get the hold they sought over the new land. The separation of church from state was paramount in the minds of our forefathers, and Young quotes the documentation to back it up. He also quotes the lack of knowledge TV ministers like Robinson and Falwell have about the founding of America in their endless broadcasts. He also reproduces a good deal of the hate mail these organizations send out to raise money. He unearths a surprising number of tainted land deals and construction boondoggles the Falwell organization, among others, has been and is involved with, the biggest of their three money-getters (the other two are a constantly-used cry for money to keep the broad-casts on the air quoting nonexistent immediate power cutoff, and the famous 'war' on homosexuals and communists).

Young's book manages to constantly stay readable and fascinating, even when his personal history and environment are the focus—a major achievement given the very droll nature of the new christian right as subject matter. And God's Bullies also makes you mad: first at yourself for being victimized by the likes of Falwell et al, and second to realize that you live in a society that not only allows such excesses of persecution, but seems to encourage them. But the question is, will it make you mad enough to fight back?

EISENBLATTER LEATHERMEN

After his successful show of images from America at the Singer Museum in Holland, Michael Eisenblatter is moving on to an unusual and sure to be controversial one-man show at the Gallery Kiek in The Hague, the government center of The Netherlands. The completely gay oriented exhibition will include color as well as black & white images of everything from the boy-next-door types to construction workers, bodybuilders, and leathermen.

Eisenblatter is one of Europe's most exciting gay photographers and has been unique in conquering the usually conservative mainstream gallery circuit with his provocative images over the past year. But even Eisenblatter sees The Hague show as a real test. It opens February, 1983.

JOHN PRESTON COMES OUT

An auspicious opening in a surprising locale: novelist John Preston reveals his semi-secret life as a photographer when his one-man show, Men by John Preston, inaugurates Cycles, the first leather bar in Portland, Maine.

Preston authored the popular novel Mr. Benson, which was serialized in Drummer, as well as Franny, the Queen of Provincetown (Alyson Press, 1983). While he originally wrote Mr. Benson under the pseudonym Jack Prescott, the publication of the contemporary classic SM novel, which is expected soon, will bear his real name. For years Preston photographed the SM world around him under the pseudonym Yank. His photographs first appeared in Drummer and Alternate. This show, the debut of his photography under his real name, is drawn, in the main, from those images plus previously unpublished photographs.

Cycles, the Portland, Maine bar hosting Men by John Preston, was founded by Tom Corbett and Tom St. John, two for real estate agents who were fired from their positions with a prestigious firm in Ogunquit, Maine when it was learned that they had been instrumental in providing background material for a feature article John Preston wrote for Torso magazine on Ogunquit as a gay resort.

Men by John Preston opens December 11th and runs through the end of the year. Cycles is located at 50 Center Street, Portland, Maine.

YOU ASKED FOR IT!

YOU GOT IT!

Dear DRUMMER—

You used to run artwork by an artist named Bud 'way back in the beginning. How come you don't anymore? I remember one in issue two or three of a very hairy giant being led by slaves. Could you find it for me?

E.J./Topeka, KS

No one seems to be able to get work out of the very talented Bud anymore. The centerfold you speak of was in issue #3. Occasionally he does a cover for PFI, a quarterly journal on piercing put out by Gauntlet. For more information on PFI write Gauntlet at 850 N. San Vicente, West Hollywood, CA 90069.

In Issue 56 ("In Passing") you have a slave next to a motorcycle, tied to a cross with his dick chained to his tits. How is that done? What connects the chain to the head of the cock?

M.C./Oklahoma City, OK

We asked Mark Chester the photographer to make > sure and he supplied this photograph (at right). The ring through the head is a Prince Albert and is growing increasingly popular.

I heard that there is a toe fucking scene in a recent movie by Falcon. Do you have a shot from it and what movie is it?

R.L./Houston, TX

The scene is an unusual one from Falcon's "Style." Here is a blow up from the film itself. The movie, but not the scene, was in our article on Video ("The Video Explosion," Issue 54) featuring Todd Barron (fuckee) and Jim Kramer (fucker).

There are a couple of shots of a hot dude who looks like the real thing in a Mr. Video tape called "Leatherneck." Is that all you are going to show of him? Let's see his front including his gun (and I don't mean rifle).

Here is the same Leatherneck from Mr. Video whose address is 7985 Santa Monica Blvd., Los Angeles, CA 90046.

LONDON LEATHER

This has been the year for the gay competitions in London. It's taken the city many years to catch up on a phenomenon which the States has been enjoying for years.

The first one held at the beginning of September was the Mr. Subway Competition, held in honor of the club of the same name (incidentally, it's just had a jacuzzi installed—the first permanent one in a London club).

Subway held a number of preliminary heats but seemed to have a hell of a time getting contestants at all. First prize was a weekend in Amsterdam, but even this did not encourage entries in the numbers they'd expected. Eventually around twenty guys were persuaded to take part in the finals. The evening was hosted by The Trollettes, still London's favorite leather drags. The competition was won by a very sexy Mike Dow, age thirty-four, with a superb body (see photo). Such sexy buns! The winner was automatically entered in the Mr. Hardware U.K. Ltd Competition, held later in the same month at the same club.

This one was a bit more organized and attracted a lot more entries. The preliminary heats were held up and down Britain. The winner of each heat spent a weekend in London for the finals. First prize went to Mike Stevens, which included a vacation for two in the United States. Contestants in this competition were of a much higher calibre and the finals turned out to be an exciting and long evening (the judges couldn't decide on a winner until near 3AM). The competition was video taped with copies going to all the clubs that had participated.

MSC London, the city's social leather club, held a huge camping weekend in Kent. A hundred and fifty guys spent five days under tents, miles away from the world. The whole thing was kicked off on the Friday night of our annual summer bank holiday season. Unfortunately, I got conned into helping take the booze and food down to the site in a three-ton truck. The vehicle had seen better days and a journey that should have taken two hours at the outside took five. Consequently, the other guys had been waiting in the middle of this forest for three hours. With no booze and no food. Such a cheer went up as we nosed into the campsite; things livened up very quickly. A large beer and food tent had been erected and the cooks got to and prepared supper fast. Meanwhile, MSC London president Tony Lombard was mixing what turned out to be a rather lethal cocktail. A huge bonfire was lit and by 2:30AM everybody had gotten down to fucking.

The following day was the first time I saw the campsite in daylight. Tents sleeping five to six were encircled around a huge bonfire. Guys from all over Europe came for the event, over half from outside England, the largest group from France.

On Saturday night, MSC London being MSC London (and, oh! so grand!), had organized a formal sit-down dinner! In the middle of this bloody field! It dragged on for hours as toast after toast was made by precious member after precious member. Once all this was finished, the tables were cleared and MSC London presented a one-hour cabaret.

The rest of the event was taken up with a sports day, bike and car rallies, a 24-hour beer bar, and lots of fucking and sucking. I really enjoyed myself. I even surprised myself with what you can do in the confines of a tent! Thank heaven the poles were strong.

The Cellar Bar at Heaven—Europe's largest gay disco, and in central London—has taken off in a big way. The Thursday All-Leather Night is just incredible. I never knew London had so many sexy leather guys just raring to go. I still can't figure out where the hell they are the rest of the week! If you're over here on vacation, it's a must! But bring your passport with you if you want to get in. The Cellar is open only on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. Thursday is all leather and Friday and Saturday sees a slightly relaxed door policy—though no ravers or textile queens have been allowed in.

With the Cellar's rise in popularity, Subway has been in a decline. The club that gave us the first seven-night-a-week US-style cruise bar now can't make up its mind what it's supposed to be. It has introduced a cabaret policy which baffles me somewhat. We have a long-running soap opera on commercial TV here called Coronation Street. It attempts to show working class life here in the north of England. But its stars have become gay cult heroes. With Subway encouraging this by booking various actors from the cast to give music hall type acts. Consequently it's not sure whether it's a variety club or a raunchy cruise joint.

The London Apprentice pub in east London—affectionately termed the LA to give it a US flavor—has had a dramatic effect on the gay scene in the city. It especially hit the Spreadeagle, London's other social gay leather pub, which has been forced to close its Sunday evenings. LA is the great success story in London at present. Everyone's going there. It has a great advantage over other gay pubs because it's open till midnight, an hour longer than most of the competition.

Another success story, though not as dramatic, is on the other side of the Thames, in south London. A bar opened recently called Quintin's. Although it's taken a few months to get going, it's now become very popular. So popular in fact that the entire pub has now gone gay, with a front bar concentrating on heavy cruise action and the back having a more chatty social scene. It's on Clapham High Street by the way, and there are plenty of tubes to get you out there from central London.

LEATHER BULLETIN BOARD

CLEVELAND—It's going to be a long cold winter, but the Tower City Corps plans to heat it up on Feb. 11, 12, and 13th with their big First Anniversary bash, Avalanche '83. The hottest, raunchiest leather men around the Great Lakes will be doing their thing. If your crotch needs a workout or that hole needs plugging, then this is where you need to be. The cost, when you consider the tab for most runs, is cheap, cheap, cheap. $40 each before January 1st and $50 thereafter; hotel accommodations are separate. If you're interested, and who wouldn't be, drop in at A Man's World, 2402 St. Clair Ave., Cleveland, OH 44114, or call them at (216) 694-9823. Don't wait and wonder if you should go, you'll only kick your ass when you find out how hot the whole affair was—and you missed it.

SAN FRANCISCO—Mr. Leather of California. You never head of it? No wonder, San Francisco's arbiter of leather, Mr. Marcus, has just patented the name and will be exhibiting all that flesh on Saturday, April 2, 1983, with Wayland Flowers and Madame doing the emceeing. Mr. Marcus' column can be read in The Voice (San Francisco, not Village) on a regular basis and it is the best overview of the leather community outside of these pages. His wit, which can bite at times, is only excelled by his knowledge of the who, what, where and how's that he divulges. No one, but no one, in or out of San Francisco can ignore what he has to say. The question is: Can the persuasive Mr. Marcus induce Madame to enter the contest in her leather drag? It will be the biggest show of the Spring season in a town that is terminally jaded by so many contests and events. Miss it at your own peril! Final note: The judges and contestants will come from Los Angeles, Sacramento, San Jose, and San Francisco.

DENVER—Winterfist! These guys, the Knights of the Golden Eagle, have an ad elsewhere in Drummer. Why the fuck is it that the parts of the country with the coldest climates seem to come up with the hottest action? A wag would probably respond, 'What else can you expect when the sap rises?' Winterfist takes place in the Mile High City on December 11th. If you can't make it because someone in the family is on his or her deathbed (the only reason I can imagine to stay away), then try to recoup your losses by investing in Crisco stock; it should rise quite a few points. Red will be the color of the day. Where is it going to happen? Where else but at the Hot Delivery. I can just picture all those hot, anxious asshole sweating and pulsing for the heavy fists and muscular arms. Here's your chance to get filled and fulfilled!

WATERBURY—Yes, the Thunderbolts M.C. of Waterbury, CT are doing it at The Quarry in Springfield, MA on the first Saturday of each month until May. Take the Boston Exit off I-91 North to Dwight Street to find the humpiest guys New England has to offer, plus Prizes, surprises, entertainment and raffles.

THE
BACK

Just look at all the above and can you doubt that it's out there if you want to become involved? More and more leather men are finding each other and banding together to explore each other's potential. We're a small minority, but we epitomize what is best about American manhood. We work out our hangups and let the shit fly! We have a commonality of interests which instill not only pride in being gay, but in our vibrant manhood and sexuality. We throw back into the faces of our critics their own sense of insecurity. There is a lustiness and raunchiness in our attitudes which harkens back to the rough, vulgar, earthy frontiersmen who made this fucking country so great. Ohio and New England, with their Puritanical Shaker sects, which epitomized a closed, narrow society, evidences this healthy evolution. The Tower City Corps and The Thunderbolts are only two examples of where men can stand tall and proud in their manhood and give vent to the camaraderie and sexuality which is the essential core of any man. Leather men across the country are, by their examples, leading all men into a new age of free expression and heightened awareness of their innate worth. And they're having a lot of fucking fun doing it!

CONRAP

THE HOLIDAYS IN PRISON!

While we are looking forward to the Christmas and New Year holidays, convicts across the country are dreading the appearances of these annual events for a number of reasons—especially gay men and women.

The dull routine of prison life numbs the mind for most of the year. The seasons seem to come and go without any appreciably noticeable change in the daily routine, except for the amount of clothing the convict has to wear. Only the close of the year makes the convict more keenly aware of his or her condition.

Prisons are lonely affairs, notwithstanding the mass of sweaty, smelly bodies with which one finds himself surrounded. By their very nature, convicts tend to live in closed off personal worlds which deny ready access to other convicts. It is a world of concrete and steel which dispassionately grinds the ego of its inhabitants into the dust.

One would think that the holidays would lighten the gloomy pall which perpetually shrouds the hell-hole in which prisoners have found themselves immured. Not so. Those convicts who found joy in prison festivities are those who found a great deal of joylessness in their celebrations of the holidays during childhood. On the other hand, they may have become so institutionalized that prison holidays assume a reality for them which negates the reality of their imprisonment.

Misery pervades most of the holiday. We again see the middle class values of the administration and the chaplains being imposed on men and women. They transfer their concepts of the holidays into the dining hall, cell houses, chapels—without bothering to inquire what the convicts really want or need. If they do consult with the men and women, the convicts are offered a limited, prescribed set of choices, which they have to go along with, regardless; the illusion of choice used to bolster the hypocritical ideologies of the people who run the prison game. Not to go along with the program would be, in the eyes of the officialdom, a rejection of a "valuable" outward expression of social adjustment. How would you like to take that sort of label with you to the parole board?

Christmas and New Years, in the very basic elements, mean a day off and a better than usual meal. That is not to say that even on the outside these holidays have anything less than a secular observance, at variance with their origins. But men and women who have been separated from their families and loved ones by prison find themselves paying lip service to a set of days which have, in their present environment, lost all validity.

I can remember to this day, vividly, how it was to celebrate Christmas on Alcatraz. Alcatraz had no canteen. They gave you a pack of Wing cigarettes on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights. If you smoked more than those three packs, you had to roll Bull Durham. Two razor blades a week, some brand called Lucky Boy, which dulled after one shave—and you have to stay cleanly shaved, you had to shave every morning in ice cold water. Except for an occasional piece of fudge, you never saw a candy bar all year round. No cookies. No anything.

On the night before Christmas, as each man left the dining room for his cell, he was given a brown sack with a gawdy Christmas tree and a greeting from the Bureau of Prisons on the sack. Justly, Ebenezer Scrooge's commentary, "Humbug!", is all that could be said. Inside the sack was an apple, an orange, a bag of hard candy, six candy bars, six White Owl or King Edward cigars, and a bag of unshelled peanuts. Magnificent! We thought so at the time, since Alcatraz was so stark and cold. This little package had a lot of meaning. It is, in retrospect, a sad commentary that intelligent, vital men could become so excited over such a pittance.

For the last two years of Alcatraz's existence, we were allowed to purchase a one pound box of See's chocolates. And for all the negative imagery the media and the Bureau of Prisons have put forth about the men on The Rock, this box of chocolates revealed more about those men than anything else. Not everyone had the funds to buy a box of chocolates, so groups of guys would pool together to see that anyone who lacked the money would still be able to have his fill of this rare delicacy. Quite often the recipients of the largesse ended up with more than the donors themselves had.

If there is a meaning to the holidays, then this is it. In a place where selfishness and cold are the expected norms, there could exist a humanity that transcended bitterness and hate, revealing a milk of human kindness which even prison's vicissitude failed to curdle.

In our leather fraternity we hail the man who has a keen sense of care and concern in his dealing with his fellow man. How better than during this holiday season to exhibit it. We all buy more greeting cards than we ever use. Some of us just throw them out, or save them until next year only to discover that they have not aged well and then throw them out. Take a few minutes. Dig back into your recent Drummer's and get the names and addresses of men who are trying to make some contact with the outside world through the ConRap column. If you don't want to give out your name or return address, then just send the card, anonymously. Mail calls in prison are not unlike mail calls in the armed services overseas, everyone is looking to hear from someone. Just care enough to send the card and possibly a few words of encouragement. If you want to become involved, so much the better. It could be a learning experience, or it might result in your meeting a person who could become important in your world.

FORESKIN UPDATE

Foreskin Update will appear on an irregular basis to follow up on the information and material presented by Drummer in the series on circumcision by Bud Berkeley. Besides hearing from readers who have specific things to say about either circumcision or foreskins (and no general 'I really did skin' letters, please); we invite readers to show and tell us the results of a late circumcision or, in the case of our feature piece this issue, a new foreskin. We also will explore foreskin piercing and tattooing, special foreskin fetishes, and historical information about foreskins.

HOW TO STRETCH IT BACK

A reader sent these photos illustrating the method he used to stretch the remaining skin around the head of his cock and create the beginning of a new foreskin. He says, "Man, when I read that article by Mr. Berkeley on foreskins I thought I was the only stud actively working on restoring my foreskin. So far I've spent a year or so stretching and lengthing the skin on my cock so it now easily folds over the head. Then, with a piece of J&J Clear Tape holding the skin together just under the head, I can keep the foreskin in position 24 hours a day, and even hold it there during a full erection.

"What really amazes me is the tremendous increase in feeling in the head of my cock! This started to occur about 3 or 4 weeks after I began to hold the skin in position. There's got to be hundreds of studs out there that would like to experience what I have.

"I'm enclosing a series of photos to show you how I've stretched my cock skin into a foreskin—also to show the circumcision scar, performed before I had the right to make that decision."

THE FORESKIN CONTEST

We got a little bet going on here in the uncut section at Drummer that the longest foreskin on record is no more than about one-half inch past the head of the dick. Now one-half inch doesn't sound like much, but when you consider that it's all skin, it's quite a bit. So here's the deal. We want to know if anyone out there has more than a half inch of foreskin. You can't pull on it, or hold it out to measure it, it has to hang down naturally. Your best bet is to measure it while it's soft, but if it hangs off the end of your dick when it's hard, we want to hear about that, too.

Measure your foreskin and send us the results. If you include a clear photo of the handiwork, we'll send you a thank you gift. The person with the longest foreskin will get a prize, which we'll announce along with the actual measurement. Photos should be clear, preferably black and white. The deadline is December 31st, so get out your ruler and drop your pants. We'll publish the more interesting foreskins in this section. Send your entries to: Skin Contest, Drummer, 15 Harriet, San Francisco, CA 94103. If you want your photo returned, then include a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FAMOUS OVERHANG

According to the Hollywood Star Magazine, which specialized in getting under the stars' bedcovers, the following screen actors and assorted media types all sport foreskin. In a few cases, we actually found evidence to support the allegations, which we've included. In other cases, we're taking the word of the Hollywood Star at face value.

Tony Franciosa, Vince Edwards, The Everly Brothers, Rock Hudson, Elvis Presley (autopsy report), Vincent Price, Jackie Cooper, Michael Greer (nude scene in Fortune and Men's Eyes), Gene Kelly, Johnny Mathis, Sal Mineo (as witnessed in stage production of Fortune and Men's Eyes), Martin Milner, Bob Crane, Mickey Rooney, Burt Lancaster (early nude photos in 'bodybuilding' magazines), Nureyev (nude photos in fashion magazine), Jerry Lee Lewis, Johnny Crawford (nude scene in The Naked Ape), Ron Howard, Dino Martin, Yul Brynner (early George Platt Lynes photos), Rick Adams, Michael Caine, Ed McMahon, Peter Falk, John Saxon. If you've seen evidence of other famous overhang, tell us about it and tell us how it can be documented.

COMING UP!

PIERCED, SHAVED & TATTOED!

An excerpt from the explosive, electrifying new book on body shaving, erotic tattoos, and genital piercings.

THE NEXT S&M CLASSIC!

A Drummer exclusive, a preview look at the S&M novel destined to shatter the literary world next year.

WHEN S&M KILLS

A powerful and controversial analysis of how S&M sometimes goes too far. What to do to prevent accidents, how to have the maximum pleasure with the minimum damage.

THE DRUMMER AWARDS

To contributors for the past year for excellence above and beyond the call. Art, photography, fiction, articles, series and best fuck.
